PREFACE

The book that is placed in the hands of a pupil during his first year of the study of Latin should be simple and clear and interesting in its treatment of the language; it should teach with the utmost thoroughness those principles that it attempts to teach, but it should not attempt to teach to-day what may be taught more properly to-morrow; it should get the pupil into the reading of easy connected Latin as soon as possible, and for this purpose should supply a generous amount of material graded to his attainment; and it should never allow the pupil to leave the classroom without a reminder of the extent to which Latin is a part of his own language.

With these convictions the revision of Collar and Daniell's "First Year Latin" was undertaken. All these principles underlay the plan of "First Year Latin," but the unanimity with which they have been accepted since the publication of that text has made it possible in the revision so to extend their application as to produce what is in effect a new book.

The vocabulary has been made briefer and more Cæsarian. From the vocabularies of the lessons the pupil is asked to learn the meanings of some five hundred and seventy words. About ninety per cent of these words are included in the list of one thousand words which Professor Lodge¹ suggests should be learned before the end of the second year of the study of Latin. Over sixty per cent occur more than ten times in Cæsar. In the Selections for Reading the pupil has a chance to become acquainted casually with a wider vocabulary.

A number of constructions which were taught in the original book have been omitted. With three exceptions the constructions included in the revision are those which Byrne¹ recommends for the first year. Similarly, the pupil is no longer required to learn uncommon forms which are not necessary for his second-year reading.

Increased attention has been given to derivatives. Related English words are often placed after the Latin words in the vocabularies of the lessons as well as in the general vocabulary. Everywhere in the reviews this important part of the study of Latin is kept constantly before the pupil. Suggestions are offered for the keeping of notebooks of English derivatives. The force of certain common prefixes and suffixes in the formation and meaning of Latin words is also explained.

Interspersed throughout the book there are ten Review Lessons, which take up the words and constructions previously taught. The machinery for drill has been further strengthened by a summary of the uses of nouns and of verbs, and by review questions touching upon the syntax, forms, derivatives, and principles of each lesson. These questions have been placed after the Selections for Reading, that they may be somewhat removed from the lessons they concern.

The treatment of the Essentials of Grammar has been made more useful by a comparison of English grammar with Latin grammar, and by the inclusion of Latin equivalents for the English illustrative words and phrases.

The material for reading has been somewhat changed, particularly by the omission of the Fables and Stories, and by the introduction of the Story of Perseus, of the simplified narrative of Cæsar's Campaign against the Helvetians, and of a number of pages from Eutropius. In all the selections the syntax has been made to conform with that taught in the lessons, so that the pupil may not be bothered or discouraged by unfamiliar constructions.

As an aid to the pupil's pronunciation, a mark of accent has been placed on the words in the vocabularies of the first eighteen lessons, and on declensions and conjugations, both in the text and in the Appendix.

Teachers who are familiar with "First Year Latin" will find that none of its well-known excellences have been sacrificed in the revision. There are, for example, the same short lessons, usually less than two pages in length. In the exercises the sentences for translation remain simple. Nowhere are many constructions brought within the limits of a single sentence. The exercises for translation from English into Latin are relatively shorter than those from Latin into English. The order in which the verb is developed and in which the various constructions are presented will be found the same, with a few exceptions. In the study of syntax the pupil is still led from the observation of model sentences to the deduction of usages and principles. Passages of connected Latin are introduced early and are of frequent occurrence throughout the lessons, and there is ample material for reading after the lessons have been completed. The content of the book is still such that it is possible for high-school classes to go through the lessons within thirty weeks.

The "Teacher's Manual," in addition to general directions and notes on each lesson, contains carefully graded sentences for sight reading and for the practice of the "direct method," as well as material for drill on English derivatives of the Latin words of the vocabularies.

It is hoped that teachers will find the numerous illustrations a help to them in familiarizing pupils with the life of the Romans. The four plates in colors were made especially for this book by Mr. Arthur E. Becher after a careful study of all the phases of Roman life that they represent. As for the other pictures, half tones have been used where the subject could be made more realistic if reproduced directly from a photograph. In cases where line engravings seemed more suitable, drawings in the style of the early Italian engravings were made for the purpose by Mr. Thomas M. Cleland, Mr. W. A. Dwiggins, and Mr. Adrian J. Iorio. As a whole the illustrations are believed to be of a quality unexcelled in schoolbooks.

The reviser wishes to acknowledge his indebtedness to the suggestions received from Mr. Collar himself, who, before his death, had given considerable thought to the aim and scope of the revision. Indebtedness is also gratefully acknowledged to Professor Charles Knapp, of Barnard College, New York ; to Mr. Herbert F. Hancox, of Lewis Institute, Chicago ; and to Miss Grace I. Bridge and Miss Grace E. Jackson, of the Hyde Park High School, Chicago, for their helpful criticisms.

FIRST YEAR LATIN

ESSENTIALS OF GRAMMAR

THE PARTS OF SPEECH

NOUNS

I. a. A noun is the name of a person, place, or thing : boy, London, ship ; puer, Londinium, nāvis.

b. A proper noun is the name of a particular person, place, or thing : Cornelia, Rome, Rhone ; Cornēlia, Rōma, Rhodanus.

c. A common noun is a name that may be applied to any one of a class of objects : boy, city, day ; puer, urbs, diēs.

d. A collective noun is a name that may be applied to a group of objects, though itself in the singular number (XXIII) : crowd, family ; multitūdō, gēns.

e. A verbal noun is the name of an action : seeing, writing, to see, to write ; videndī (459), scribendī, vidēre, scribere.

f. An abstract noun is the name of a quality or condition : goodness, truth, poverty ; bonitās, vērītās, paupertās.

PRONOUNS

II. a. A pronoun is a word used to take the place of a noun or of another pronoun : I, you, him, this, who ; ego, tū, eum, hoc, quī.

b. The noun (or pronoun) for which a pronoun stands is called its antecedent (from antecēdere, to go before). Thus, in the sentence John goes to school, but he does not study, the noun John is the antecedent of he. The antecedent is especially common with a relative pronoun (II, d). Neither in Latin nor in English does the antecedent necessarily stand in advance of its pronoun: What he says, he believes, quod dicit, id crēdit.

c. A personal pronoun shows by its form whether it stands (1) for the speaker: I, we; ego, nōs, that is, the first person; (2) for the person spoken to: thou, you; tū, vōs, that is, the second person; or (3) for the person or thing spoken of: he, she, it, they; is, ea, id, eī, that is, the third person.

d. A relative pronoun connects a subordinate clause, in which it stands, with the antecedent: The book that you have is mine, liber quem habēs meus est. The relative pronouns in English are who, which, that, and as; in Latin the relative is quī.

e. An interrogative pronoun is used to ask a question: Who is walking in the garden? Quis in hortō ambulat? The interrogative pronouns in English are who, which, and what; in Latin, quis and uter.

f. A demonstrative pronoun points out an object definitely: this, that, these, those; hic, ille, hī, illi.

g. An indefinite pronoun refers to an object indefinitely: some, some one, any, any one; aliquis, quis.

h. A reflexive pronoun refers back to the subject: He blamed himself, sē culpāvit.

ADJECTIVES

III. a. An adjective is a word used to qualify or limit a noun or a pronoun: good book, beautiful moon, five girls; liber bonus, lūna pulchra, quīnque puellae.

b. A, an, and the, really limiting adjectives, are sometimes called articles. The is the definite article, a or an the indefinite article. These articles are not used in Latin.

c. Numeral adjectives denote how many persons or things are under consideration. They are either cardinal, denoting how many: one, two, three, four; ūnus, duo, trēs, quattuor; or ordinal, denoting which in order: first, second, third, fourth; prīmus, secundus, tertius, quārtus.

d. Possessive adjectives denote ownership: my friend, our house; meus amicus, nostra domus. Possessive adjectives are frequently used as possessive pronouns.

e. The demonstrative pronouns, the indefinite pronouns, and the interrogative pronouns which and what may be used as adjectives, and are then called respectively demonstrative adjectives: this book, that house; hic liber, illa domus; indefinite adjectives: some boys, aliqui pueri; and interrogative adjectives: Which way shall we go? Quā viā ibimus?

f. Adjectives are often used as nouns: "The land of the free," patria liberōrum.

VERBS

IV. a. A verb is a word which can declare or assert something about a person, a place, or a thing: The man laughs, vir ridet; the town is captured, oppidum captum est; the leaf falls, folium cadit.

b. A verb which has an object (XIV, a) to complete its meaning is said to be transitive, or to be used transitively: The girl has a rose, puella rosam habet.

c. A verb which does not have an object (XIV, a) to complete its meaning is said to be intransitive, or to be used intransitively: Birds fly, avēs volant; I walk, ambulō.

NOTE. Thus certain verbs may at one time be transitive and at another intransitive: The wind blew the snow into our faces; the wind blew furiously.

d. Verbs are classified as regular or irregular. This distinction is made merely for convenience. A regular verb in English forms its imperfect (past) tense (xxxiii, a) and past participle (xxxiv, b) by the addition of d or ed to the present: present, love; past, loved; past participle, loved. For Latin regular verbs see 658–662.

e. An irregular verb in English does not form its imperfect (past) tense by the addition of d or ed to the present: present, give; past, gave; past participle, given. For Latin irregular verbs see 663–668.

f. An auxiliary verb is used in the conjugation of other verbs: I am loved, he has given. In Latin the verb esse, to be (663), is so used: missus est, he has been sent.

ADVERBS

V. a. An adverb is used to modify a verb, an adjective, or another adverb: He walks swiftly, celeriter ambulat.

b. An adverb of place answers the question where? — here, there, hence; hīc, illīc, hīnc.

c. An adverb of time answers the question when? — then, now, often; tūm, nūc, saepe.

d. An adverb of manner answers the question how? — so, well, ill; sīc, bene, male.

e. An adverb of degree answers the question how much? — little, almost, enough; paulō, paene, satis.

f. A modal adverb expresses affirmation or negation, or the degree of confidence with which a statement is made: yes, no, certainly, perhaps; certē, forsitan.

PREPOSITIONS

VI. A preposition is used before a noun or pronoun to show its relation to another word in the sentence. Usually the relation shown is position, direction, or time: He sent a legion against the enemy, in hostēs legiōnem mīsit. In Latin certain phrases which would be introduced in English by a preposition are expressed by the use of one of the cases (XXIV, b) without a preposition: At dawn he sent a legion, primā lūce legiōnem mīsit.

CONJUNCTIONS

VII. a. A conjunction connects words, phrases (XVI), clauses (XX), and sentences (XVIII): boys and girls, puerī et puellae; they fought bravely but were conquered, fortiter pugnāvērunt sed victi sunt.

b. A coördinate conjunction connects words, phrases, clauses, and sentences of equal order or rank. The conjunctions in the examples in VII, a are coördinate.

c. A subordinate conjunction connects a subordinate clause (XX, a) with a principal clause (XX, a): The boy was praised because he was industrious, puer laudātus est quod impiger erat.

INTERJECTIONS

VIII. An interjection is used to express strong feeling. It is not grammatically related to any other word in the sentence: oh! ah! alas! hurrah! ēheu! ecce!

NOTE. The following couplets have often proved useful to young persons in identifying the parts of speech:

Three little words we often see Are Articles, a, an, and the.

A Noun's the name of anything;
As school or garden, hoop or swing.

Adjectives tell the kind of noun ;
As great, small, pretty, white, or brown.

Instead of nouns the Pronouns stand ;
I come, you go, as they command.

Verbs tell of something being done ;
As read, write, spell, sing, jump, or run.

How things are done the Adverbs tell ;
As slowly, quickly, ill, or well.

They also tell us where and when ;
As here and there and now and then.

A Preposition stands before
A noun ; as in or through a door.

Conjunctions join the words together ;
As rain and sunshine, wind or weather.

Conjunctions sentences unite ;
As kittens scratch and puppies bite.

An Interjection shows surprise ;
As Oh ! how pretty ! Ah ! how wise !

THE SENTENCE

IX. A sentence is a word or a group of words expressing a thought : Stars shine ; he walks ; stellae lūcent ; ambulat.

X. a. A declarative sentence declares or asserts something :
The farmers are plowing the fields, agricolae agrōs arant.

b. An interrogative sentence asks a question : Why are the farmers plowing the fields ? Cūr agricolae agrōs arant ?

c. An imperative sentence expresses a command, a request, or an entreaty : Plow the fields to-day, hodiē agrōs arāte.

d. An exclamatory sentence expresses strong feeling or emotion : Would that he had remained ! Utinam mānsisset !

XI. a. A sentence is made up of two parts, one called the subject and the other the predicate.

b. The subject represents the person, place, or thing about which something is declared or asserted: Birds sing, avēs cantant.

c. The predicate declares or asserts something about the person, place, or thing which the subject represents: Birds sing, avēs cantant.

NOTE. In English and in Latin either the subject or the predicate, or both, may be enlarged to any extent by the addition of qualifying words and expressions called modifiers: My sister's small birds | sing sweetly in the morning.

XII. The simple subject is the noun or pronoun which signifies the person, place, or thing about which the assertion is made. The simple predicate is the verb that makes the assertion. Birds is the simple subject, and sing the simple predicate, in the note under XI, c.

XIII. The complete subject is the simple subject with all its modifiers. The complete predicate is the simple predicate with all its modifiers. Thus, in the example in the note under XI, c the complete subject is all that precedes the vertical line, and the complete predicate all that follows it.

XIV. a. The object of a verb is a word or an expression that completes the meaning of the verb, and signifies that which is affected by the action: He sent messengers, nūntiōs misit; he wished me to go to Italy, mē in Italiam ire voluit.

b. The direct object represents that which is immediately affected by the action of the verb; the indirect object that to or for which the action is performed. Thus, in He gave me a book, mihi librum dedit, book is the direct object, and me the indirect.

XV. a. A predicate noun or a predicate adjective is used after certain intransitive or passive verbs to complete their meaning, and to describe or define the subject: Marcus is a sailor; the sailor is brave; Mārcus nauta est; nauta fortis est.

b. The predicate noun or adjective is called the complement of the verb. Intransitive verbs that require a complement are called copulative verbs. The verb be (Latin esse) in its various forms (am, was, has been, etc.) is often called the copula.

c. The predicate noun or adjective has the same case as the subject; hence the term predicate nominative.

XVI. a. A phrase is a combination of words (not subject and predicate) used as a single part of speech.

b. An adjective phrase modifies a noun: A man of great valor, vir magnae virtūtis.

c. An adverbial phrase modifies a verb: They work with great diligence, magnā cum diligentīā labōrant. In Latin certain cases of nouns are used to express what in English would be prepositional phrases of an adverbial nature (vi).

XVII. A simple sentence contains but one statement, that is, one subject and one predicate: Cæsar drew up a line of battle, Caesar aciem instrūxit.

XVIII. A compound sentence contains two or more independent statements: Cæsar drew up a line of battle, but the enemy fled, Caesar aciem instrūxit, sed hostēs fūgērunt.

NOTE. An independent statement is one that can stand alone; it does not depend on (qualify or limit) another statement.

XIX. A complex sentence contains one independent (principal) statement and one or more dependent (subordinate) statements : When the messenger had replied, the lieutenant spoke as follows, cum nūntius respondisset, lēgātus haec dixit.

NOTE. A dependent, or subordinate, statement is one that qualifies or limits another in some way ; thus, the dependent statement when the messenger had replied limits the verb spoke, telling when the lieutenant spoke.

XX. a. The separate statements in a compound or a complex sentence are called clauses, and, as has already been seen, they may be either independent (principal) or dependent (subordinate).

b. When dependent (subordinate) clauses modify nouns or pronouns they are called adjective clauses : The girls whom we praised were good, puellae quās laudāvimus bonae erant.

c. When dependent (subordinate) clauses modify verbs they are called adverbial clauses : When the messenger had replied, the lieutenant spoke as follows, cum nūntius respondisset, lēgātus haec dixit.

d. When dependent (subordinate) clauses are used as nouns they are called substantive clauses : That you are here pleases us, quod ades nōs dēlectat.

e. Dependent (subordinate) clauses introduced by when (Latin cum, ubi, etc.) are called temporal clauses ; introduced by because (Latin quod etc.), they are called causal clauses ; introduced by if (Latin sī), they are called conditional clauses ; introduced by although (Latin cum, etsī, etc.), they are called concessive clauses ; introduced by a relative pronoun (Latin quī), they are called relative clauses.

f. The independent clause of a complex sentence is called the principal clause. Connected clauses that are of the same rank, both independent or both dependent, are said to be coördinate.

INFLECTION

XXI. Inflection is a change in the form of a word to indicate a change in its meaning or use : man, men, boy, boy's, love, loved ; vir, viri, puer, pueri, amant, amābant.

DECLENSION

XXII. The inflection of a noun or pronoun is called its declension. Nouns and pronouns in English are declined to show number and case, and a few nouns to show gender. In Latin the nouns and pronouns are declined ; adjectives also are declined in gender, number, and case to agree with the nouns which they modify.

Number

XXIII. A noun or pronoun is in the singular number when it means one person, place, or thing : town, city, I ; oppidum, urbs, ego ; in the plural number when it means more than one person, place, or thing : towns, cities, we ; oppida, urbēs, nōs.

Case

XXIV. a. The several forms taken by words that are declined are called cases. In English there are the following cases, to indicate the uses of nouns and pronouns :

1. The nominative, primarily used as the subject of a sentence : He throws the ball.

2. The possessive (genitive), used to denote possession or ownership : John throws his ball ; see the queen's crown.

3. The objective (accusative), used as the object of a transitive verb or of a preposition : John throws the ball to him.

4. The dative, used to express the indirect object of the verb : John throws him the ball. Only personal pronouns and the pronoun who have separate forms for these cases in English.

Nouns have the nominative, objective, and dative alike, with a separate form for the possessive.

b. In Latin there are seven cases: nominative, genitive, dative, accusative, ablative, vocative, and locative; but a single form sometimes does duty for several cases (cf. agricola, 63). The nominative, genitive, and accusative cases are used much like the same cases in English. The dative expresses in general that relation of words to other words which is expressed in English by prepositional phrases beginning with to or for: to the farmer, for the man. The ablative expresses in general that relation of words to other words which is expressed in English by prepositional phrases beginning with from, with, by, in: with a spear, by a story.

c. The direct object of a verb in Latin is in the accusative case, but sometimes the direct object in English is expressed in Latin by the dative (425, 433).

Gender

XXV. a. The gender of English nouns is what is called natural gender, and hence has very little to do with grammar. Thus, a noun denoting a male is in the masculine gender: man, boy, father; a noun denoting a female is in the feminine gender: woman, girl, mother; one denoting either male or female is in the common gender: cat, dog, parent; one denoting a sexless object is in the neuter gender: river, wind, mountain.

b. In Latin only nouns that denote persons and some animals have natural gender: nauta, sailor (masc.); māter, mother (fem.). All others have an arbitrary gender, called grammatical gender, determined chiefly by the ending: flūmen, river (neut.); ventus, wind (masc.); nūbēs, cloud (fem.).

COMPARISON

XXVI. a. English adjectives and adverbs are inflected to show degree. This is called comparison. There are three degrees of comparison, the positive, the comparative, and the superlative: positive wise, comparative wiser, superlative wisest; positive good, comparative better, superlative best; positive often, comparative oftener, superlative oftenest.

b. Adjectives and adverbs are also compared in English by prefixing the adverbs more and most: beautiful, more beautiful, most beautiful.

c. Comparison in Latin is indicated exactly as in English: sapiēns, sapientior, sapientissimus; bonus, melior, optimus; idōneus, magis idōneus, maximē idōneus; saepe, saepius, saepissimē.

CONJUGATION

XXVII. a. The inflection of a verb is called conjugation. Verbs are conjugated to show voice, mood, and tense, and the number and person of the subject.

b. The English verb has but few changes of form. Thus the verb love has in common use only the forms love, loves, loving, and loved. Most of the conjugation of the verb is made up of verb phrases formed by the use of auxiliaries (IV, f): I am loved, I shall love, I shall have been loved, etc.

c. The Latin verb has many changes in form to show voice, mood, tense, number, and person: amor, I am loved; amābō, I shall love; amātus erō, I shall have been loved.

Voice

XXVIII. A verb is in the active voice when it represents the subject as acting (or being): The man praised the boy, vir puerum laudāvit. A verb is in the passive voice when it represents the subject as acted on: The boy was praised by the man, puer ā virō laudātus est.

Mood

XXIX. A verb is in the indicative mood when it is used in stating a fact or in asking a question: The citizens are assembling, cīvēs conveniunt; why do they carry arms? cūr arma portant?

XXX. a. In English a verb is in the subjunctive mood when it asserts something doubtfully or conditionally. It is used in subordinate clauses, and is usually introduced by if, though, and the like: If he were here, I should be glad; "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him."

NOTE. The subjunctive is very little used in modern English, its place being taken by the indicative.

b. In Latin the subjunctive has a great variety of uses, in independent as well as in dependent clauses (344, 358, 373, etc.).

XXXI. a. A verb is in the imperative mood when it expresses command, request, or entreaty: Fortify the city, urbem mūnite.

b. Unless emphatic the subject of the imperative (thou or you) is not expressed either in English or in Latin.

The Infinitive

XXXII. a. The infinitive in English (to love, to have loved, etc.) is a verbal noun. It has neither person nor number. Like a noun it may be the subject or the object or the complement of a verb: To see is to believe; he wishes to go home. Like a verb it may have a subject, an object, and adverbial modifiers: We wish you to begin your work early.

b. The Latin infinitive is used in the same way that the English infinitive is used. It differs, however, from the English infinitive in not being used in prose in expressions of purpose (They came to see me), and in being used constantly for the verb of a statement that is given indirectly: He said that he would come, dixit se ventūrum esse.

c. The verbal noun in -ing is sometimes called an infinitive : Seeing is believing = to see is to believe. This verbal noun has its counterpart in the Latin gerund (459).

Tense

XXXIII. a. A verb is in the present, past (imperfect), or future tense according as it represents an action as taking place in present, past, or future time : I love, I loved (was loving), I shall love ; amō, amābam, amābō.

b. The present perfect (perfect) tense represents an action completed in the present : I have loved, amāvi ; the past perfect (pluperfect) an action completed in the past before some other past action or state : I had loved, amāveram ; and the future perfect an action completed in the future before some other future action or state : I shall have loved, amāverō.

The Participle

XXXIV. a. The participle is a verbal adjective. Like an adjective it may qualify a noun : struggling soldiers, militēs labōrantēs. Like a verb it may have an object and adverbial modifiers : Fearing danger they remained in the camp, perīculum veritī in castrīs mānsērunt.

b. There are in English three participles in the active voice : present, loving ; past, loved ; perfect, having loved ; and three in the passive voice : present, (being) loved ; past, loved ; perfect, having been loved. In Latin the past and perfect active and the present passive participles are wanting, but there is a future participle.

c. The participle in -ing is used with the auxiliary be to make the progressive form of the verb : you are loving, he was loving, they will be loving. Latin has no special tenses for the progressive forms.

TO THE BEGINNER IN LATIN

What Latin is. Latin is the language that was used by the ancient Romans. It gets its name from the Lati'ni, a little tribe living in western Italy more than twenty-five hundred years ago. The Latini, and their successors, the Romans, slowly extended their lands and their power until they gained control of all Italy, and finally of all the civilized world of those days. Their dominions reached from the Atlantic Ocean to Persia and from the Baltic Sea to the deserts of Africa, and their language was spoken wherever they ruled. For about six hundred years the Romans were the most powerful nation on the earth. Their history covers in all a period of twelve centuries; no nation has had a longer history.

Why Latin is studied. And now why is it that it is worth your while to study a language that is so many centuries old?

First, a knowledge of Latin helps you to use English more correctly. As more than half the words in the English language are of Latin origin, you yourself in a sense speak Latin to-day. There are the words of your everyday talk, like animal; there are the learned words, like emancipate; there are the terms of law, of medicine, and of the sciences, like mandamus, delirium, and antennae; and there are the words which are newly come into use, like tractor. If you study Latin, you will be helped to know the meaning of many of these words, how to spell them, and how to use them correctly; all of which is quite worth your while, particularly if you are intending to enter one of the professions.

Again, the study of Latin will train your mind. Latin is somewhat unlike English in the form of its words and much unlike English in the order of the words in its sentences. You will therefore be obliged to look carefully, and to think carefully, and to speak carefully whenever you try to read and to translate anything written in Latin. But this close attention will do good to your mind: it will train your powers of observation, of clear thinking, and of clear expression; in fact, no other subject that you study in school can do as much for you as can Latin toward developing these desirable powers.

Furthermore, the reading of Latin will add to your information. If you are to be a well-informed person, you will need to know something about Rome and the Romans, and what they have meant in the history of the world; and in no other way can you better come to know and to appreciate the literature, the life, the customs, and the civilization of the Romans than by the faithful study of their language and of the things written in that language.

How to study Latin. 1. Never allow yourself to think that Latin is not worth your best efforts or that it is too hard for you. Industry and confidence will bring you success in this study.

2. Have a fixed hour each day for the study of your Latin. If possible, prepare your lesson for to-morrow immediately after reciting the lesson of to-day. Your interest will then be greater and your mind better fitted to grasp the subject.

3. Learn each day's lesson with thoroughness. Neglect no part of the lesson even if it seems to you unimportant.

4. Before beginning a new lesson recall what you have already learned about the subject to be taught in the new lesson. For example, if you are about to study a new use of one of the cases, recall all the uses of that case which you have previously learned.

5. Review the vocabularies regularly. A knowledge of the meanings of the words will be a great saving of time to you, as well as a constant encouragement. Aim to know every word you have met, and to this end keep lists of words about the meaning of which you are doubtful.

6. Recite the declensions and the conjugations by yourself aloud. It will help you to remember them, and you will make better recitations. Read the Latin sentences aloud each day.

7. Go over the new lesson slowly, and thus avoid mistakes in the spelling of words, in their endings, and in the explanation of Latin constructions.

8. Recall your English grammar when you are learning Latin constructions ; most of the Latin usages that you will learn in your first year are like English usages.

9. Study the lessons as a whole. Then go back to special difficulties. Go over the lesson again just before the recitation and consider the troublesome parts.

INTRODUCTION

ALPHABET

1. The Latin alphabet has no j or w. Otherwise it is the same as the English.
2. The vowels are a, e, i, o, u. The other letters are consonants.
3. The letter i is used both as a vowel and as a consonant. Before a vowel in the same syllable it has the force of a consonant and is called i-consonant. Thus in iaciō, I throw, the first i is a consonant, and the second a vowel.

SOUNDS OF THE LETTERS¹

4. The vowels are either long or short. In this book the long vowels are marked (-); unmarked vowels are to be regarded as short. The vowels are sounded as follows :

ā like the last a in aha'

ē like e in they ī like i in machine

ō like o in note

ū like oo in boot

ǎ like the first a in aha'

ě like e in met

ĩ like i in pin

ǒ like o in obey

ũ like oo in foot

5. The diphthongs are sounded as follows :

ae like ai in aisle

au like ou in our ei like ei in eight

✓ eu like eu in feud oe like oi in boil

ui like we

¹ Latin is pronounced to-day substantially as it was pronounced by the Romans at the beginning of the Christian era.

6. The consonants generally have the same sound as the corresponding consonants in English. But there are the following exceptions :

c is like c in come

g is like g in get

i-consonant is like y in yet

s is like s in sun

t is like t in time

v is like w in wine

x is like x in extra bs and bt are like ps and pt

ch is like k in kite

gu, qu, and sometimes su before a vowel are like gw, qw, and sw (u is not counted as a vowel)

ph is like p

th is like t

When a consonant is doubled (as ll), it should be pronounced twice.

EXERCISE IN PRONUNCIATION

7. 1. sum, tum. 2. cum, dum. 3. ad, id. 4. in, an. 5. at, et, ut. 6. hic, hīc, hāc. 7. hōc, hūc. 8. hoc, num. 9. is, bis, īs. 10. dīc, dūc. 11. fac, fer. 12. aut, hae. 13. ē, ā, ī. 14. ex, ab, ob. 15. dō, dā, dē. 16. pāx, dux. 17. nox, vōx. 18. pars, sōl. 19. trēs, mōs. 20. quō, quā. 21. iūs, quī. 22. quae, quīn. 23. quis, sē. 24. mē, tē. 25. gēns, sīc. 26. vel, vir, iam.

SYLLABLES

8. A syllable consists of a vowel or a diphthong with or without one or more consonants. Hence a word has as many syllables as it has vowels and diphthongs : ō-ce'-a-nus, ocean.

9. When a word is divided into syllables, a single consonant between two vowels is joined with the vowel following : lā-ti-tū'-dō, width.

10. If there are two or more consonants between two vowels, the first is pronounced with the preceding vowel : im-mor-tā'-lis, immortal.

But a consonant followed by l or r is pronounced with the l or r, except in ll and rr: pū'-bli-cus, public; when ll or rr occurs, one l or one r is joined to the preceding syllable, and the other to the following syllable: ter'-ra, land.

Compound words are divided in such a way as to show the component parts: ab'-est (ab, away, + est, he is), he is away.

11. The last syllable of a word is called the ultima; the one next to the last, the penult; the one before the penult, the antepenult.

12. A vowel is generally short before another vowel or h: pö-ē'-ma, poem; nī'-hil, nothing.

13. A vowel is generally short before nt or nd, and before final m or final t: vó'-cānt, they call; vo-cā'-bām, I was calling.

14. A vowel is long before nf or ns: a'-māns, loving.

15. A vowel resulting from the contraction of two vowels is long: cō'-gō (co-agō), I bring together.

16. The quantity of vowels other than those mentioned in the preceding sections must be learned by observation.

QUANTITY OF SYLLABLES

17. A syllable is long by nature when it contains a long vowel or a diphthong: vic-tō'-ri-a, victory; prae'-mi-um, reward.

18. A syllable is short by nature when it does not contain a long vowel or a diphthong: o-pī'-ni-ō, opinion.

19. A syllable is long by position when it has a short vowel followed by x or z, or by two or more consonants, unless these two consonants are p, b, t, d, c, g, followed by l or r; but the short vowel is still pronounced short: dē-trī-men'-tum, loss.

ACCENT

20. Words of two syllables have the accent on the first syllable: pa'-ter, father.

21. Words of more than two syllables have the accent on the penult when it is long, otherwise on the antepenult: dē-mōn-strā'-re, to point out; ce-le'-ri-tās, swiftness; ē-ven'-tus, outcome (cf. 19).

22. Several words, of which the commonest are -ne, the sign of a question, and -que, and, are appended to other words. The words so appended are known as enclitics. The words to which they are appended are accented on the syllable preceding the enclitic, whether that syllable is long or short: a-mat'-ne? does he love? ar-mā'-que, and arms.

EXERCISE IN ACCENT AND PRONUNCIATION

23. Divide the following words into syllables, state the rule for the accent, and then pronounce:

1. dividunt , appellāre	6. causīs , praecēdō
2. īnstitūtīs , differēbāmus	7. finis , prohibit
3. hūmānitāte , prōvinciā	8. initiō , persuāserāmus
4. longus , animōs	9. tempora , magistrātuum
5. importābunt , bellum	10. frāternus , conloquium

24. The following Latin version of "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star" may be used for practice in pronunciation, and for illustration of the preceding statements about syllables, accent, etc.:

MICĀ, MICĀ

Micā, micā, parva stella!
Miror quāenam sis, tam bella!
Splendēs ēminus in illō,
Alba velut gemma, caelō.

Quandō fervēns Sōl discessit,
Nec calōre prāta pāscit,
Mox ostendis lūmen pūrum,
Micāns, micāns per obscūrum.

Tibi noctū quī vagātur
Ob scintillulam grātātur ;
Nī micārēs tū, nōn scīret
Quās per viās errāns īret.

Meum saepe thalamum lūce Speculāris cūriōsā ;
Neque carpseris sopōrem
Dōnec vēnit Sōl per auram.

LESSON I

THE SINGULAR AND PLURAL OF NOUNS AND VERBS THE NOMINATIVE CASE USED AS SUBJECT

25. The Singular and Plural of Nouns and Verbs.

NOUN

Nom. Sing. agricola, farmer
Nom. Plur. agricolae, farmers

VERB

3d Pers. Sing. labōrat, works, is working, does work 3d Pers. Plur. labōrant, work, are working, do work

a. Observe that the distinction between the singular and the plural is shown by the final letters of the noun and of the verb. These final letters of a noun are called case endings; the final letters of a verb are called personal endings.

b. Form the nominative plural of the nouns in the vocabulary, and the third person plural of the verbs.

VOCABULARY

agri'cola, farmer (agriculture)
Cornē'lia, Cornelia Iū'lia, Julia nau'ta, sailor (nautical) puel'la, girl et, conj., and
-ne, enclitic, sign of a question am'bulat, walks (perambulate) appropin'quat, approaches, draws near (propinquity) can'tat, sings (incantation) labō'rat, works, labors, suffers (laboratory) na'tat, swims (natatorium) quis, interrog. pron., who?

quid, interrog. pron., what?

27. The Nominative Case used as Subject.

1. Puella cantat, the girl sings (is singing, does sing).
2. Puellae cantant, the girls sing (are singing, do sing).
3. Cantatne puella, does the girl sing (is the girl singing)?
4. Cantantne puellae, do the girls sing (are the girls singing)?

a. In Latin there is no article (III, b): puella may be translated girl, a girl, or the girl; and puellae, girls or the girls.

b. What is the subject (XI, b) of each of the model sentences, and what is the predicate (XI, c)? In what case is the subject of a Latin verb (XXIV)?

c. Observe that the verbs agree with their subjects in number.

d. Observe that -ne is not separately translated. Usually it is attached to the emphatic word in the sentence, and the emphasized word is placed first. When an interrogative word is used, -ne is omitted: see sentence 11 below. In English -ne is represented on the printed page by the question mark, and in oral translation by the inflection of the voice.

28. Rule for the Nominative Case as Subject. The subject of a verb is in the nominative case.

29. Rule for the Agreement of the Verb with its Subject. A verb agrees with its subject in person and number.

EXERCISES

30. 1. Nauta cantat. 2. Nautae cantant. 3. Agricola labōrat. 4. Agricolae labōrant. 5. Puella natat. 6. Puellae natant. 7. Cornēlia appropinquat. 8. Puellaene appropinquant? 9. Cornēlia et puellae cantant. 10. Iūlia labōrat et cantat. 11. Quid appropinquat? 12. Labōrantne nautae? 13. Quis ambulat?

31. 1. The sailor is swimming. 2. The girls are singing. 3. Who approaches? 4. Are the sailors approaching? 5. Does Cornelia sing? 6. Cornelia and Julia are walking and singing. 7. The girl sings, and the farmer works. 8. Sailors and farmers are working.

LESSON II

THE ACCUSATIVE CASE USED AS THE DIRECT OBJECT

32. The Accusative Case used as the Direct Object.

1. Nauta puellam vocat, the sailor calls the girl.
2. Nautae puellās vocant, the sailors call the girls.

a. Observe that puellam is the object (xiv, a) of vocat, and puellās of vocant; and that when a Latin noun is used as the object, the case ending is not the same as when it is the subject and so in the nominative. The case of the object in Latin is called accusative (xxiv) and not objective, as in English.

b. Form the accusative singular and plural of the nouns in sections 26 and 34.

33. Rule for the Accusative as the Direct Object. The object of a verb is in the accusative case.

VOCABULARY

a'qua, water (aquatic)	con'vocat, calls together (convoke)
Gal'ba, Galba	ha'bet, has, holds (habit) lit'tera, letter (of the alphabet); plur. , a letter, epistle (literary)	lau'dat, praises (laud) ter'ra, land (terrace)	vi'det, sees (provide) tu'ba, trumpet (tuba)	quem, acc. of quis , whom?
a'mat, loves, likes (amateur)	quid, acc. of quid , what?
	nunc, adv. , now

35. Order of Words. Observe that in the model sentences (32) the order of Latin words is unlike the order of the words in the English sentences. The normal position of the subject of a Latin sentence is at the beginning; that of the verb is at the end. Variations from this order put emphasis on the word moved toward the beginning of the sentence; thus, puellam nauta vocat means that the sailor calls a girl. In translating Latin sentences put the emphasis where it belongs.

EXERCISES

36. 1. Galba tubam habet. 2. Tubāsne habet Galba? 3. Puellae Cornēliam et Iūliam laudant. 4. Litterās nauta videt. 5. Nautās Galba convocat. 6. Quis Galbam videt? 7. Quem videt Galba? 8. Agricola puellās nunc convocat. 9. Videntne nautae terram? 10. Cornēliam puellae amant.

37. 1. Who is approaching? 2. The sailor and Galba are approaching. 3. What has the farmer? 4. The farmer has land. 5. Does Galba praise the farmers? 6. The girl sees the water and the land. 7. The sailors call together the farmers. 8. Julia now has the letter.

LESSON III

THE PRESENT INDICATIVE ACTIVE OF THE FIRST CONJUGATION

38. The Four Conjugations. Regular verbs in Latin are divided into four classes, or conjugations (xxvii), distinguished from one another by the stem vowel before the ending -re of the present infinitive active.

	PRESENT INFINITIVE	PRESENT STEM	DISTINGUISHING VOWEL
First Conj.	amā're	amā-	ā
Second Conj.	monē're	monē-	ē
Third Conj.	re'gere	rege-	ē
Fourth Conj.	audi're	audi-	i

39. The Present Indicative Active of the First Conjugation.

	SINGULAR	PERSONAL ENDINGS
1st Pers.	a'mō, I love, am loving, do love	-ō, I
2d Pers.	a'mās, you love, are loving, do love	-s, you
3d Pers.	a'mat, he, she, it love, is loving, does love	-t, he, she, it
	PLURAL
1st Pers.	amā'mus, we love, are loving, do love	-mus, we
2d Pers.	amā'tis, you love, are loving, do love	-tis, you
3d Pers.	a'mant, they love, are loving, do love	-nt, they

a. Observe that in amō the final a of the stem disappears, giving amō instead of amaō. In what forms is this a of the stem not long (13)?

b. When the subject of a verb is a personal pronoun, it is seldom expressed in Latin unless emphatic. Why is the omission of the subject possible? Translate puellās convocātis and nautam vident.

c. Inflect like amō the present indicative active of ambulō, appropinquō, cantō, convocō, labōrō, laudō, and natō.

40.

VOCABULARY

dō, pres. stem dā- (the a of dō is regularly short, but long in dās), sae'pe, adv., often sed, conj., but give (dative)

spec'tō, pres. stem spectā-, look at in'cola, inhabitant

(spectator)

EXERCISES

41. 1. Ambulat, convocat, cantat. 2. Convocantne? cantantne? laudantne? 3. Natās, labōrās, ambulās. 4. Amāmus, appropinquāmus, ambulāmus. 5. Convocātis, cantātis, amātis. 6. Amant, dat, laudāmus. 7. Quem spectās? 8. Incolās laudō. 9. Iūliam saepe laudātis. 10. Sed litterās laudāmus. 11. Quid nunc datis?

42. 1. I swim, he swims, I am swimming. 2. Are you working? we sing, does she praise? 3. They are approaching, they give, you walk. 4. You are praising, they swim, he does labor. 5. We call together the inhabitants, but you call together the sailors. 6. The girls are now looking at the water.

LESSON IV

THE GENITIVE CASE USED TO DENOTE POSSESSION

43. The Genitive Case used to denote Possession.

1. Filiae Galbae cantant, the daughters of Galba sing, or Galba's daughters sing.
2. Filiās nautārum laudāmus, we praise the daughters of the sailors, or we praise the sailors' daughters.

a. Observe that Galbae modifies filiae and tells whose daughters are singing. In the same way nautārum modifies filiās and tells whose daughters we are praising. This usage of Galbae and of nautārum is like that of the English possessive case (xxiv, a, 2). In Latin the case thus used is called the genitive (xxiv, b), and this usage of that case is called the Genitive of Possession.

b. Observe the case endings of the genitive. Form the genitive singular and the genitive plural of the nouns in sections 26, 34, and 45.

c. Note the translations given to the genitives in the model sentences. Translate filia agricolae and filiae agricolārum.

d. The genitive normally stands after the word it modifies.

44. Rule for the Genitive of Possession. The word denoting the owner or possessor is in the genitive case.

VOCABULARY

fē'mina, woman (feminine) fī'lia, daughter (filial) fortū'na, fortune (fortunate)

poē'ta, poet (poetic) rēgī'na, queen

cu'ius, gen. of quis and of quid, of whom? whose? of what?

dēlec'tō, pres. stem dēlectā-, delight, please (delectable) exspec'tō, pres. stem expectā-, wait, wait for (expect) fu'gō, pres. stem fugā-, put to flight, rout lī'berō, pres. stem liberā-, set free, free (liberate) por'tō, pres. stem portā-, carry, bring (portable)

SINGULAR

- 1st Pers. mo'neō, I advise, am advising, do advise 2d Pers. mo'nēs, you advise, are advising, do advise 3d Pers. mo'net, he, she, it advises, is advising, does advise

 3d Pers. mo'nent, they advise, are advising, do advise

a. What verbs belong to the second conjugation (38)?

b. Observe that to the stem monē- the same personal endings are added to inflect monēō that were added to the stem amā- to inflect amō. Observe the three forms in which the present tense has the e of the stem not marked long. Compare the forms of the present tense of amō (39).

c. To the stems docē-, habē-, terrē-, and vidē- add the personal endings and thus inflect their present indicative active.

LESSON VI

THE DATIVE CASE USED AS THE INDIRECT OBJECT · THE ABLATIVE USED IN PREPOSITIONAL PHRASES TO SHOW PLACE WHERE

54. The Dative and Ablative Cases. Besides the three cases that you have already studied, there are in Latin in common use two other cases, the dative and the ablative. For the general character of these cases see XXIV, a, 4; b.

VOCABULARY

do'mina, lady, mistress (of slaves) (dominant)	ha'bitō, habitāre, dwell, live (inhabitant) fā'bula, story (fable)	ma'neō, manēre, remain (mansion) in'sula, island (peninsula)	nār'rō, nārrāre, tell, relate (narrator) vi'a, way, road, street (viaduct) in, prep. with abl. , in, on	cui, dat. of quis and of quid , to whom? for whom? to what? for what?
dēmōn'strō, dēmōnstrāre, point out, show (demonstrate)

56. The Dative used as Indirect Object.

Cornēliae et puellis fābulam nārrō, I am telling a story to Cornelia and the girls, or I am telling Cornelia and the girls a story.

a. Observe that what is being told is a story, fābulam, the direct object; and that the persons to whom the story is told are Cornelia and the girls. Cornēliae and puellis, therefore, are in the dative case, as this is the case which expresses the relation of to or for (XXIV, b). This usage, which is like the English (XXIV, a, 4), is called the Dative of the Indirect Object.

b. The case endings of the dative are -ae, singular, and -is, plural. Form the dative, singular and plural, of the nouns in sections 26, 34, and 55.

57. Rule for the Dative of the Indirect Object. The indirect object of a verb is in the dative case.

58. The Ablative used in Prepositional Phrases to show Place Where.

In terrā et in insulīs habitant, they live on the land and on the islands.

a. Observe that the phrases (xvi, a) on the land, in terrā, and on the islands, in insulīs, show place where. Terrā and insulīs are in the ablative case (xxiv, b).

b. The case endings of the ablative are -ā, singular, and -īs, plural.

c. Form the ablative, singular and plural, of the nouns in sections 26, 34, and 55.

59. Rule for the Ablative of Place Where. Place where is commonly expressed by a phrase consisting of a preposition, usually in, with the ablative case.

60. Order of Words. The indirect object normally stands before the direct object. An ablative normally stands before the direct object. Variations from this order give emphasis to the word removed from its normal position.

EXERCISES

61. 1. Agricola dominae viam dēmōnstrat. 2. Puellis etiam Cornēlia fābulam nārrat. 3. In insulā habitāmus. 4. Quis poētis insulam dēmōnstrat? 5. Cūr pirātae in aquā manent? 6. Cui pecūniam dās? 7. Nautae agricolis praedam dēmōnstrant. 8. Incolae in viis appropinquant et rēgīnam spectant. 9. Domīnam amant quod fābulās nārrat.

62. 1. To whom are you pointing out the lady? 2. I am pointing out the letter to Julia. 3. They are telling stories to the queen. 4. Galba's daughter gives money to the sailors. 5. Do the pirates live on the island? 6. Whose daughters are approaching in the street?

LESSON VII

THE FIRST DECLENSION · GENDER

63. The First Declension. There are five declensions (XXII) of Latin nouns. Those nouns which end in -a in the nominative singular and in -ae in the genitive singular are said to belong to the first declension. Learn the complete inflection of the noun agricola :

SINGULAR	CASE ENDINGS
Nom. agri'cola	-a
Gen. agri'colae	-ae
Dat. agri'colae	-ae
Acc. agri'colam	-am
Abl. agri'colā	-ā
PLURAL
Nom. agri'colae	-ae
Gen. agricolā'rum	-ārum
Dat. agri'colīs	-īs
Acc. agri'colās	-ās
Abl. agri'colīs	-īs

a. Observe that the inflection of a noun consists merely in adding the case endings to an unchangeable part of the word. This unchangeable part is called the base. Decline like agricola the nouns in section 55.

64. Gender. Latin nouns are masculine, feminine, or neuter in gender (XXV, a, b).

a. Nouns of the first declension are feminine unless they denote males. Nauta, agricola, Galba, poëta, and pīrāta are the masculine nouns you have learned. Hereafter the gender of nouns will be shown in the vocabularies by the letters m., f., or n.

pug'na, -ae, f., fight (pugnacious) sil'va, -ae, f., woods, forest (silvan)

THE SECOND DECLENSION

73. The Second Declension. Most nouns of the second declension end in -us or -um. Those ending in -us are generally masculine; those in -um are neuter. Hortus, garden, and dōnum, gift, are inflected as follows:

SINGULAR
		CASE ENDINGS	CASE ENDINGS
Nom.	hor'tus	-us	dō'num -um
Gen.	hor'tī	-ī	dō'nī -ī
Dat.	hor'tō	-ō	dō'nō -ō

Acc.	hor'tōs	-ōs	dō'na -a
Abl.	hor'tīs	-īs	dō'nīs -īs

a. Learn the case endings first. Then learn the inflection by adding the case endings to the base of each noun. Then practice the inflection of the nouns in section 74.

b. What do you notice about the dative and the ablative plural of the first and second declensions? What cases are alike in the second declension?

RUINS OF AN AMPHITHEATER

LESSON IX

ADJECTIVES OF THE FIRST AND SECOND DECLENSIONS

77. Adjectives in Latin. Latin adjectives, unlike English adjectives, are declined (XXII). There are two declensions of adjectives.

78. Adjectives of the First and Second Declensions. One class of adjectives has in its masculine and neuter forms the case endings of the second declension, and in its feminine forms the case endings of the first declension: as, bonus (masc.), bona (fem.), bonum (neut.), good. Learn the full declension of bonus (643).

79. Rule for the Agreement of Adjectives. Adjectives agree with their nouns in gender, number, and case.

	MASCULINE	FEMININE	NEUTER
Nom.	hortus bonus	puella bona	dōnum bonum
Gen.	horti boni	puellae bonae	dōni boni
Dat.	horto bono	puellae bonae	dōno bono etc.	etc.	etc.

a. Complete the declension of the expressions given above. Decline together amicus bonus, good friend; fābula grāta, pleasing story; oppidum magnum, large town.

80. The rule given in 79 does not mean that adjectives must have the same case endings as the nouns they modify. An adjective modifying a masculine noun of the first declension will not have the same case endings as the noun. Thus,

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
Nom.	nauta bonus	nautae boni
Gen.	nautae boni	nautarum bonorum
Dat.	nautae bono	nautis bonis
	etc.	etc.

a. Complete the declension of nauta bonus. Decline poëta grātus, pleasing poet.

81. Order of Words. An adjective normally follows the noun which it modifies.

82.VOCABULARY

LESSON X

THE PRESENT INDICATIVE OF SUM · PREDICATE NOUN AND PREDICATE ADJECTIVE

85. The Present Indicative of Sum. The irregular verb sum, I am, is conjugated in the present indicative as follows:

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
1st Pers.	sum, I am	su'mus, we are
2d Pers.	es, you are	es'tis, you are
3d Pers.	est, he, she, it is	sunt, they are

86. Predicate Noun and Predicate Adjective. For the definition of a predicate noun and of a predicate adjective, see xv.

1. Mārcus est agricola, Marcus is a farmer.
2. Nautae sunt amīcī, the sailors are friends.
3. Hortus est magnus, the garden is large.
4. Puellae sunt grātae, the girls are welcome.

a. Observe the case of agricola, amīcī, magnus, and grātae (xv, c).

87. Rule for the Agreement of a Predicate Noun. A predicate noun agrees in case with the subject of the verb.

88. Rule for the Agreement of a Predicate Adjective. A predicate adjective agrees in gender, number, and case with the subject of the verb.

89. Order of Words. The verb sum generally has no emphasis (unless it begins the sentence), and it is placed in the sentence where it sounds best or where it adds clearness.

In Latin phrases consisting of a monosyllabic preposition, adjective, and noun the order of words is often adjective, preposition, noun: as, magnō in oppidō, in the large town.

THE SECOND DECLENSION: NOUNS IN -ER, -IR, -IUS, AND -IUM

97. Nouns of the Second Declension in -er and -ir. Some nouns of the second declension end in -er and -ir. They are slightly different from hortus in their inflection:

SINGULAR
Nom.	pu'er	a'ger	vir
Gen.	pu'erī	a'grī	vi'rī
Dat.	pu'erō	a'grō	vi'rō

Acc.	pu'erōs	a'grōs	vi'rōs
Abl.	pu'erīs	a'grīs	vi'rīs

a. Observe that these nouns are declined in the same way as hortus except that they lack the ending -us in the nominative singular. Ager is like puer except that e before r occurs only in the nominative singular.

98. Nouns of the Second Declension in -ius and -ium. Nouns of the second declension ending in -ius and -ium contract the genitive ending -iī to -ī. The accent remains on the same syllable as in the nominative: auxi'lium, gen. auxi'li. Learn the declension of filius and proelium (637).

99. Gender of Nouns of the Second Declension. Nouns of the second declension ending in -um are neuter; most others are masculine.

b. Observe that liber retains the e in all forms, as puer does, while noster, like ager, has no e after the nominative.

c. Decline miser, wretched, like liber. The other adjectives in this book that end in -er are declined like noster.

a. Observe that puerō is translated with the adjective grātum, pleasing to the boy. Certain Latin adjectives, particularly those meaning near, fit, friendly, pleasing, like, and their opposites, are thus followed by the case expressing to or for, exactly as they are followed in English by a phrase beginning with to or for: as, fit for war, unfriendly to us. This usage is known as the Dative with Adjectives.

a. Observe that in this tense the personal ending of the first person singular is -m, not -ō.

b. Observe that amābam is formed by adding to the stem amā- the tense sign -bā-, and to that tense sign the personal endings: amā-ba-m etc. Divide monēbam into three parts in the same way.

c. Inflect the imperfect of the verbs in 68 and 115.

d. The imperfect tense expresses action going on in past time.

121. The Ablative of Means.

Rōmānī gladiīs et pilīs pugnābant, the Romans were fighting with swords and javelins.

a. Observe that gladiīs and pilīs are in the ablative, since they express the relations of with and by. They answer the questions with what? by means of what? The ablative so used is called the Ablative of Means. It is limited to nouns that denote things, and is translated by a phrase beginning with by, with, or by means of.

122. Rule for the Ablative of Means. The means by which an action is accomplished is expressed by the ablative without a preposition (XXIV, b).

3. Mārcus magnō studiō labōrat, Marcus works with great zeal.

a. Observe that manner is expressed in these sentences by the use of the ablative case. Observe that 2 and 3 are translated in the same way, and that cum may be omitted when there is an adjective in the phrase. The ablative thus used answers the questions how? in what way? in what manner? and is called the Ablative of Manner. The ablative of manner may often be translated by an adverb: cum studiō, zealously.

129. Rule for the Ablative of Manner. The ablative with cum is used with abstract nouns (i, f) to denote the manner of an action; but cum may be omitted if an adjective modifies the noun of the phrase.

LESSON XVII

PRINCIPAL PARTS · THE PERFECT STEM · THE PERFECT INDICATIVE ACTIVE, FIRST CONJUGATION

132. Principal Parts. The principal parts of the verb amō are as follows :

PRES. IND. ACT.	PRES. INF. ACT.	PERF. IND. ACT.	PERF. PASS. PART.
amō	amāre	amāvī	amātus

a. The principal parts of the verb are so called because all forms of the verb can be made from them, or from the three stems shown in the principal parts. These three stems are as follows :

1. Present stem : amā-, found by dropping the -re of the present infinitive active.

2. Perfect stem : amāv-, found by dropping the personal ending -ī of the first person singular of the perfect indicative active.

3. Participial stem : amāt-, found by dropping the nominative ending -us of the perfect passive participle.

133. The Perfect Stem. By the use of the present stem you have conjugated the present, imperfect, and future tenses. By the use of the perfect stem amāv- the perfect, pluperfect, and future perfect tenses are conjugated.

134. The Perfect Indicative Active of the First Conjugation. The perfect indicative active of amō is inflected as follows :

SINGULAR	PERSONAL ENDINGS OF PERFECT TENSE

2. amāv'is'tī , you have loved, etc.	-istī
3. amā'vit , he has loved, etc.	-it
PLURAL

2. amāv'is'tis , you have loved, etc.	-istis
3. amāv'ē'runt , they have loved, etc.	-ērunt

a. Observe that the perfect tense has two meanings: I have loved and I loved. Both express completed action. I have loved indicates that the action is completed at the present time; and the perfect tense so used is known as the perfect definite. I loved indicates merely that the action was completed at some indefinite time in the past; and the perfect tense so used is known as the perfect indefinite. The imperfect tense, in contrast with the perfect, expresses an action going on in the past (120, d).

b. Give the principal parts of each verb of the first conjugation in 68 and 115; they are formed in the same way as those of amō (except dō, dare, dedī, datus). Inflect the perfect tense of each.

a. Iī and iīs are pronounced as monosyllables, ī and īs.

148. The Uses of Is. There is no word in English like is. Although it is a demonstrative pronoun (II, f) and means this and that, it does not point emphatically to what is near, as does hic, or to what is remote, as does ille (228). Generally it refers to somebody or to something that has just been mentioned. Sometimes it approaches in meaning the English definite article the. It is translated by this or that as the meaning of the sentence may require.

1. Is agricolās convocāvit, this (or that) man called the farmers together.
2. Is servus cum diligentīā labōrat, this (or that) slave works diligently.

THE PRESENT, IMPERFECT, FUTURE, AND PERFECT INDICATIVE ACTIVE OF THE THIRD CONJUGATION

159. The Present, Imperfect, Future, and Perfect Indicative Active of the Third Conjugation. Learn the present, imperfect, future, and perfect indicative active of the verb regō (660). What are the present and perfect stems?

a. Observe that the personal endings, except in the first person singular of the future, are the same as in the first and second conjugations.

b. Observe that the differences between this conjugation and the first and second conjugations are in the present and future tenses.

c. Observe that in the present tense the e of the present stem rege- disappears before ō in the first person, just as happened in ama-ō; and that it becomes u in the third person plural, while in the other persons it is i. The inflection is like that of erō, future of sum.

d. Observe that the future does not use -bi- as a tense sign, but has -a- in the first person singular, and -e- in the other persons.

e. Give heed to the quantities and the accents. Inflect like regō the verbs in the following vocabulary.

LESSON XXIII

THE THIRD DECLENSION

171. The Third Declension. Nouns of the third declension end variously in the nominative singular. They are of masculine, feminine, or neuter gender. Their inflection is illustrated by the following words :

rēx, m. king	mīles, m. soldier	virtūs, f. valor	caput, n. head	CASE ENDINGS M. AND F. N.

Dat.	rē'gī	mī'lit ī	virtū'tī	ca'pit ī	-ī -ī
Acc.	rē'gem	mī'lit em	virtū'tem	ca'put	-em —
Abl.	rē'ge	mī'lit e	virtū'te	ca'pit e	-e -e

Abl.	rē'gibus	mīli'tibus	virtū'tibus	capit'ibus	-ibus -ibus

a. To decline a noun of the third declension it is necessary to know the gender, and the spelling of the nominative and the genitive singular. These things, therefore, must be learned about every noun of this declension. Often an English derivative will suggest the spelling of the genitive singular : as, capital, capitis ; military, militis.

b. No adequate rule for the gender of nouns of the third declension can be given. But Nouns ending in -tor are masculine.

Nouns ending in -tās, -tūs, or -tūdō, and most nouns ending in -i are feminine.

Nouns ending in -e, -al, or -ar are neuter.

c. Learn the case endings. Then practice the declension of the nouns above and of those in the vocabulary. Observe that masculines and feminines are declined alike.

d. Decline together miles bonus, good soldier; virtūs nostra, our valor; and caput parvum, small head.

¹ Observe that the ablative of an abstract noun may express means.

² Observe that a singular verb may be used with two subjects, if the subjects are abstract nouns and considered as a single whole.

a. Wherein does the inflection of capiō differ from that of regō in the present? in the imperfect? in the future?

b. Verbs in -iō, with the infinitive in -ēre, are conjugated like capiō. Like capiō inflect in the same tenses fugiō and iaciō (176).

LESSON XXVI

THE THIRD DECLENSION: I-STEMS

189. The Third Declension: i-Stems. Certain nouns of the third declension have i-stems. These include :

1. Nouns which end in -is or -ēs in the nominative singular and have no more syllables in the genitive singular than in the nominative.

2. Neuters ending in -e, -al, or -ar.

3. Nouns ending in -ns or -rs.

4. Monosyllables ending in -s or -x, with a consonant preceding the -s or -x.

These nouns show the following peculiarities of declension :

1. The genitive plural ends in -ium.

2. The accusative plural of masculines and of feminines ends in -is or -ēs.

3. The nominative and the accusative plural of neuters end in -ia.

4. The ablative singular of neuters and of a few other words ends in -ī.

The declension of nouns having i-stems is illustrated by the following paradigms :

LESSON XXIX

ADJECTIVES OF THE THIRD DECLENSION

208. Adjectives of the Third Declension. Besides the adjectives of the first and second declensions there are also adjectives of the third declension. They use the endings of the third declension of nouns.

a. Some of these adjectives have the same form for the nominative singular of all three genders: as, audāx, bold. Others have the same form for the masculine and feminine nominative singular, but a different form for the neuter nominative singular: as, brevis, breve, short. Still others have a different form in the nominative singular for each gender: as, ācer, ācris, ācre, keen, eager.

b. Learn the declension of audāx, brevis, and ācer (644).

c. Observe that the adjectives having two or three endings in the nominative singular have only -ī in the ablative singular. Adjectives of one ending more often have -ī than -e in the ablative. Compare the endings of these adjectives with the endings of nouns having i-stems (189). What differences are there?

d. Decline proelium ācre, keen battle; corpus breve, short body; hostis audāx, bold enemy; vir ācer, bold man.

229. Place from Which and to Which, in Names of Towns. You have already learned that place from which is expressed by the ablative with ā (ab), dē, ē (ex) (178); and that place to which is expressed by the accusative with ad or in (180). If, however, the place from which or to which is the name of a town, the prepositions are omitted: as, Rōmā vēnit, he came from Rome; Rōmam vēnit, he came to Rome. Domus, home, also omits the preposition: domum vēnit, he came home (homeward).

230. Complete Rules for Place from Which and to Which.

2. amā'ris, you are loved	-ris	amā'minī, you are loved	-minī
3. amā'tur, he, she, it is loved	-tur	aman'tur, they are loved	-ntur

a. Observe that these passive forms differ from the active only in the personal endings. The endings are added to the present stem amā- exactly as they were in the active voice.

239. The Imperfect and Future Indicative Passive of the First Conjugation. Compare the imperfect and the future active and passive of amō (658). Observe that the passive endings are added to the tense stems amābā- and amābi-, exactly as in the active voice, except in the second person singular of the future, where -bi- is changed to -be-. Learn these tenses of moneō (659).

EXERCISES

240. 1. Amat, amātur. 2. Amābat, amābātur. 3. Amābit, amābitur. 4. Amant, amantur. 5. Amābant, amābantur. 6. Amābuntne? amābuntur? 7. Amāmus, amāmur. 8. Moneō moneor. 9. Monēbam, monēbar. 10. Monēbō, monēbor.

11. Monēbitis, monēbimini. 12. Monētis, monēmini.

241. 1. You praise, you are praised. 2. They were praising, they were being praised. 3. You will praise, you will be praised.
4. I teach, I am taught. 5. We teach, we are taught. 6. We shall teach, we shall be taught. 7. They teach, they are taught.

242. The Ablative of Agent.

1. Labiēnus militem laudat, Labienus praises the soldier.
2. Miles ab Labiēnō laudātur, the soldier is being praised by Labienus.

a. Observe the changes made in turning the active sentence into the passive: (1) the object in the active becomes the subject in the passive; (2) the subject of the active is expressed in the passive by the ablative with ab. This ablative is known as the Ablative of Agent.

b. The agent is the person doing something. The ablative of agent should not be confused with the ablative of means (122), which has no preposition: as, miles lapide vulnerātur, the soldier is wounded by a stone; miles ā Gallō vulnerātur, the soldier is wounded by a Gaul.

243. Rule for the Ablative of Agent. The personal agent with a passive verb is expressed by the ablative with ā or ab.

EXERCISES

244. 1. Hic puer ā frātre meō laudābātur. 2. Haec praeda Rōmam ā Caesare portābitur. 3. Ā quō nōn amātur potestās? 4. Fābulae multae dē Britannīā ab iīs nūntiīs nārrābuntur. 5. Oppidum ab militibus oppugnātur. 6. In hāc pugnā decem hominēs ā Gallīs vulnerantur. 7. Nāvibus frūmentum portābitur.

245. 1. All these Gauls will be held in check by those horsemen. 2. My brothers were praised by that boy. 3. Aid is being awaited by the enemy. 4. A few cohorts were seen by the chief. 5. Rome was loved by all the Romans.

LESSON XXXVI

THE RELATIVE QUI

246. The Relative Quī. The relative quī, who, which, that, is declined as follows :

	SINGULAR				PLURAL
Nom.	quī	quae	quod	quī	quae	quae
Gen.	cuius	cuius	cuius	quōrum	quārum	quōrum
Dat.	cui	cui	cui	quibus	quibus	quibus
Acc.	quem	quam	quod	quōs	quās	quae
Abl.	quō	quā	quō	quibus	quibus	quibus

a. Compare the declension of the relative quī with that of the interrogative quī (154).

247. Agreement of the Relative with its Antecedent.

1. Puellae quās laudāvimus bonae erant, the girls whom we praised were good.
2. Praemium quod ille homō portat laudātur, the reward which that man is bringing is praised.
3. Homō cuius gladium habet nauta, the man whose sword he has is a sailor.

a. Observe that the relative (II, d') in each sentence refers to a certain word. This word is called its antecedent (II, b). Observe that the relative has the same gender and number as its antecedent, but that its case is different. Thus, in sentences 1 and 2 it is accusative because it is the object of laudāvimus or of portat; in sentence 3 it is genitive because it indicates the possessor of gladium.

b. A relative clause modifies its antecedent as an adjective modifies its noun.

248. Rule for the Agreement of the Relative. A relative pronoun agrees with its antecedent in gender and number, but its case depends on the way it is used in its own clause

CASTRÀ ROMANA

LESSON XXXVIII

THE PERSONAL AND REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS

263. The Personal Pronouns. The personal pronouns (11, 2) are ego, I; tū, you; is, he; ea, she; id, it.

In reality there is no pronoun of the third person in Latin. The demonstrative is (148, 228) is so often used as a personal pronoun that it may be classed as the pronoun of the third person. Sometimes the demonstratives hic and ille are similarly used. Learn the declension of the personal pronouns (652).

264. The Personal Pronouns as Subjects of Verbs. The personal pronouns are expressed as subjects only for emphasis, especially the emphasis of contrast: as, ego tē laudō, tū mē nōn laudās, I praise you, you do not praise me.

265. The Reflexive Pronouns. A reflexive pronoun refers to the subject of its clause (11, h). Learn the declension of the reflexive pronouns (653).

266. The Use of the Reflexive Pronouns. The use of the reflexive pronouns is illustrated by the following sentences:

1. Tū tē amās, you love yourself.
2. Omnēs hominēs sē amant, all men love themselves.

a. Observe that tē and sē refer to the subjects of their sentences.

b. Remember that is, he; ea, she; and id, it, are used as personal pronouns, but not as reflexive pronouns; and that suī is always a reflexive pronoun, and not a personal pronoun.

267. Relative Clauses referring to Personal Pronouns.

Tū, quī venīs, es amicus meus, you, who are coming, are my friend.

a. Observe that the verb of the relative clause is in the same person as the antecedent.

DE PERSEO

277. Dē Perseō multae fābulae narrantur ā poētīs. Perseus filius fuit Iovis (642), rēgis deōrum. Avus eius Ācrisius fuit. Ille Perseum interficere volēbat²; nam propter imperia deōrum puerum timēbat. Cēpit igitur eum adhūc infāntem, et cum mātře in arcā posuit. Tum in mare arcam iēcit. Danaē, Perseī māter, maximē timēbat, tempestās enim magna mare perturbābat. Perseus autem in sinū (in the arms) mātris dormiēbat.

¹ Never the first word in the sentence or clause.

² interficere volēbat, wished to kill. The infinitive used in this way is called a complementary infinitive (394).

LESSON XL

THE POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVES · THE ABLATIVE OF SEPARATION

278. The Possessive Adjectives. The possessive adjectives are as follows :

meus, -a, -um, my	tuus, -a, -um, your (sing.)
noster, -tra, -trum, our	vester, -tra, -trum, your (plur.)
suus, -a, -um, his, her, its, their (own) , used reflexively

a. To show possession the possessive adjectives are used instead of the genitives mei, tui, nostrum, vestrum, and sui. They may also be used as possessive pronouns : as, mea, mine ; nostrī, our men.

279. The Distinction between Suus and the Possessive Genitive of Is.

1. Miles scūtum eius habet, the soldier has his shield (i. e. somebody else's shield).
2. Miles suum scūtum habet, the soldier has his own shield.

a. Eius (sentence 1) does not refer to the subject ; suum (sentence 2) does refer to the subject. Suus is always reflexive, but the genitives of is, ea, id are never reflexive.

280. When Possessive Adjectives are used in Latin. When the meaning is clear, a possessive adjective is omitted unless emphatic : as,

1. Caesar militēs in castra redūxit, Cæsar led his soldiers back into camp.
2. Caesar suōs militēs in castra redūxit, Cæsar led his (own) soldiers back into camp (but the others he left outside).

281. The Ablative of Separation.

1. Hic homō cibō caret, this man lacks (is separated from) food.
2. Germānī Rōmānōs ā finibus suis prohibēbant, the Germans were keeping the Romans away from their lands.

a. Observe that the ablative is here used to denote that from which there is freedom, removal, or separation, or that which is lacking. The ablative so used answers the questions from what? of what? and is called the Ablative of Separation. It is of the same nature as the ablative of place whence.

282. Rule for the Ablative of Separation. Words signifying privation, removal, or separation are followed by the ablative without a preposition, or with the prepositions ā (ab), dē, ē (ex).

LESSON XLI

THE PERFECT, PLUPERFECT, AND FUTURE PERFECT INDICATIVE PASSIVE OF ALL CONJUGATIONS

286. The Perfect, Pluperfect, and Future Perfect of All Conjugations.

a. Review the principal parts of amō, and notice especially the perfect passive participle. Examine the formation of the perfect indicative passive (658). Observe that it is formed by using the present tense of sum with the perfect passive participle amātus. Those tenses which are formed with the help of the perfect passive participle belong to the participial system of the verb (671).

b. Examine the pluperfect and the future perfect indicative passive. Observe that they are formed by using the imperfect and the future of sum with the perfect passive participle.

c. The perfect, pluperfect, and future perfect indicative passive of all verbs are formed in the same way.

d. The participle amātus is declined like bonus; and so in the nominative singular and plural it is changed to agree with the subject of the verb in number and gender. These changes are made because a participle is an adjective in its nature. Observe these changes as illustrated in 287.

e. Recall the principal parts of moneō, regō, capiō, and audiō, and inflect the perfect, pluperfect, and future perfect passive of these verbs and of those in 252.

291. Iuppiter tamen haec omnia vidit, et filium suum servāre cōstituit (determined to save). Tranquillum igitur fēcit mare, et arcam ad insulam Seriphum dūxit. Huius insulae Polydectēs tum rēx erat. Postquam¹ arca ad litus ducta est, Danaē in harēnā dormiēbat. Post breve tempus ā virō reperta est, et ad rēgem adducta est. Ille mātrem et puerum bene recēpit, et eis sēdem tūtā in finibus suis prae-buit.

LESSON XLII

THE FOURTH DECLENSION

292. The Fourth Declension. Nouns of the fourth declension end in the nominative singular in -us or -ū. Those ending in -us are masculine, with a few exceptions; those ending in -ū are neuter. These nouns are inflected as follows:

LESSON XLIII

THE COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES

296. Degrees of Comparison. Latin adjectives have three degrees of comparison, the positive, the comparative, and the superlative. But in Latin, as in English, there are certain adjectives which are not compared.

POSITIVE	COMPARATIVE
lātus, -a, -um, wide (BASE lāt-)	lātiōr, lātiūs, wider brevis, -e, short (BASE brev-)	breviōr, breviūs, shorter audāx, bold (BASE audāc-)	audāciōr, audāciūs, bolder
SUPERLATIVE lātissimūs, -a, -um, widest brevissimūs, -a, -um, shortest audācissimūs, -a, -um, boldest

a. Observe that the comparative is formed by adding to the base of the positive the endings -iōr for the masculine and the feminine, and -iūs for the neuter; the superlative by adding to the base of the positive -issimūs, -issima, -issimū.

b. Compare cārus, grātus, longus, fortis, and gravis.

c. The comparative may be translated wider, more wide, rather wide, too wide; the superlative widest, most wide, very wide.

297. The Declension of the Comparative. The comparative is declined as follows:

	SINGULAR		PLURAL
	M. AND F.	N.	M. AND F.	N.
Nom.	lā'tiōr	lā'tiūs	lātiō'rēs	lātiō'ra
Gen.	lātiō'ris	lātiō'ris	lātiō'rum	lātiō'rum
Dat.	lātiō'rī	lātiō'rī	lātiō'ribus	lātiō'ribus
Acc.	lātiō'rem	lā'tiūs	lātiō'rēs (-is)	lātiō'ra
Abl.	lātiō're	lātiō're	lātiō'ribus	lātiō'ribus

LESSON XLIV

THE COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES ENDING IN -ER OR -LIS THE PARTITIVE GENITIVE

306. The Comparison of Adjectives in -er. Adjectives ending in -er are compared as follows :

miser, misera, miserrum, wretched	miserior, miserius	miserrimus, -a, -um ācer, ācris, ācre, keen	ācrior, ācrius	ācerrimus, -a, -um

α. Observe that the comparative of these adjectives is regular ; but the superlative is formed by adding -rimus, -rima, -rimum to the nominative masculine of the positive. Compare similarly aeger.

307. The Comparison of Adjectives in -lis. The comparative of the following adjectives ending in -lis is regular ; but the superlative is formed by adding -limus, -lima, -limum to the base of the positive. Learn their meaning and comparison.

facilis, -e, easy	facilior, -ius	facillimus, -a, -um difficilis, -e, hard	difficilior, -ius	difficillimus, -a, -um similis, -e, like	similior, -ius	simillimus, -a, -um dissimilis, -e, unlike	dissimilior, -ius	dissimillimus, -a, -um

Most other adjectives in -lis are compared regularly : as, nōbilis, nōbilior, nōbilissimus.

308. The Partitive Genitive.

1. Ille amicus cōpiam pecūniae habet, that friend has plenty of money.

309. Rule for the Partitive Genitive. Words denoting a part may have with them a genitive of the whole from which the part is taken.

a. Numerals and a few other words have the ablative with ē (ex) or dē instead of the partitive genitive: as, decem ex militibus, ten of the soldiers.

IRREGULAR COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES · THE ABLATIVE OF DEGREE OF DIFFERENCE

317. Adjectives Compared Irregularly. Both the comparative and the superlative of several common adjectives are irregular. Commit to memory the following :

bonus, -a, -um, good	melior, melius, better	optimus, -a, -um, best
magnus, -a, -um, large	maior, maius, larger	maximus, -a, -um, largest
malus, -a, -um, bad	peior, peius, worse	pessimus, -a, -um, worst

multī, -ae, -a, many	plūrēs, plūra, more	plūrimī, -ae, -a, most
parvus, -a, -um, little, small	minor, minus, less, smaller	minimus, -a, -um, least, smallest

318. The Declension of Plūs. In the singular plūs, more, is used only as a neuter noun. Learn the declension of plūs (648).

319. Other Adjectives Compared Irregularly. There are other adjectives that are compared irregularly, some of which have no positive, but form their comparative and superlative from prepositions or adverbs, and others of which have two forms in the superlative. See 649. These should be learned as they occur in the vocabularies.

320. The Ablative of Degree of Difference.

1. Pater pede altior est quam filius, the father is a foot taller than his son.
2. Pāx multō grātor erit quam bellum, peace will be much more welcome than war.

a. Observe that the ablatives pede and multō answer the question (by) how much ? They denote the degree of difference between the objects compared. This usage is called the Ablative of Degree of Difference.

321. Rule for the Ablative of Degree of Difference. The degree of difference is expressed by the ablative.

LESSON XLVII

THE FORMATION AND THE COMPARISON OF ADVERBS

325. The Formation of Adverbs. Many adverbs are formed from adjectives. From adjectives of the first and second declensions adverbs are formed by the addition of -ē to the base of the positive; from adjectives of the third declension they may be formed by the addition of -iter to the base: as, cārē, dearly, from cārus, dear; miserē, wretchedly, from miser, wretched; ācriter, eagerly, from ācer, eager; but most adjectives of one ending add -ter to the base: as, audācter, from audāx.

a. Form adverbs from grātus, lātus, longus, liber, aeger, brevis, fortis, gravis.

326. The Irregular Formation of Adverbs. Some adverbs are the accusative or ablative singular neuter of the adjective: as, multum, much, from multus; multō, much, from multus; facile, easily, from facilis.

327. The Comparison of Adverbs.

POSITIVE	COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
cārē	cārius	cārissimē
miserē	miserius	miserrimē
ācriter	ācius	ācerrimē
facile	facilius	facillimē
bene	melius	optimē
male	peius	pessimē
multum	plūs	plūrimum

a. Observe that the comparative of the adverb is the same as the neuter singular comparative of the adjective; and that the superlative, with one exception, is formed from the superlative of the adjective by changing final -us to -ē.

GALLIC SWORD

LESSON XLVIII.

THE FIFTH DECLENSION · THE ACCUSATIVE OF EXTENT

331. The Fifth Declension. Nouns of the fifth declension end in -ēs. They are feminine, with the exception of diēs, day, which is usually masculine. They are inflected as follows :

	SING.	PLUR.	SING.	PLUR.	CASE ENDINGS
Nom.	di'ēs	di'ēs	rēs	rēs	-ēs	-ēs
Gen.	diē'ī	diē'rum	re'ī	rē'rum	-ēī	-ērum
Dat.	diē'ī	diē'bus	re'ī	rē'bus	-ēī	-ēbus
Acc.	di'em	di'ēs	rem	rēs	-em	-ēs
Abl.	di'ē	diē'bus	rē	rē'bus	-ē	-ēbus

a. The vowel e of the case endings is regularly long. It is shortened, however, in the ending -eī after a consonant, and in the ending -em : as, rēī and rem.

b. Only diēs and rēs are complete in the plural. A few other nouns have the nominative and the accusative plural. Decline aciēs, fidēs, and spēs.

332. The Accusative of Extent.

1. Decem annōs urbs oppugnābātur, the city was besieged for ten years.
2. Turris est centum pedēs alta, the tower is a hundred feet high.

a. The accusative decem annōs denotes extent of time; the accusative centum pedēs denotes extent of space. Such accusatives answer the questions how long? how far? in time or in space. This usage is called the Accusative of Extent.

333. Rule for the Accusative of Extent. Extent of time or of space is expressed by the accusative.

Arma rapuerunt, et Perseum interficere volēbant.³ Ille autem dum fugit,⁴ galeam magicam induit; et, ubi hoc fēcit, statim ē cōspectū eārum excessit.

¹ abscidere, to cut off. The infinitive is here used as the subject of erat (393). ² What two meanings has ubi in this paragraph? What kind of clause does it introduce here? ³ interficere volēbant, wished to kill. ⁴ dum fugit, while he was fleeing. The present tense with dum is translated as if it were the imperfect tense.

THE SUBJUNCTIVE MOOD · THE PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE PURPOSE CLAUSES WITH UT AND NE

340. The Subjunctive Mood. The Latin subjunctive is used in both independent and dependent clauses, but the kinds of dependent clauses in which the subjunctive is used are far more numerous than the independent. In this book only some uses in dependent clauses will be studied.

341. The Tenses of the Subjunctive. There are four tenses of the subjunctive: present, imperfect, perfect, and pluperfect. No meanings are given for the tenses of the subjunctive, because the translation varies with the use of the mood (cf. 343, 357, 372).

342. The Present Subjunctive. The present subjunctive of the several conjugations and of sum is inflected as follows:

ACTIVE		PASSIVE
1. a'mem	amē'mus	a'mer	amē'mur
2. a'mēs	amē'tis	amē'ris	amē'minī
3. a'met	a'ment	amē'tur	amen'tur mone	}
reg		-āmus, -ātis, -ant	ACTIV
capi		-āmur, -āminī, -antur	PASSI audi
sim, sīs, sit		sīmus, sītis, sint

a. Observe that the mood sign of the present subjunctive of the regular verbs is -ē- in the first conjugation, and -ā- in the others.

b. Learn the present subjunctive of the verbs above. Then inflect the present subjunctive active and passive of dūcō, mittō, recipiō, reperiō, and videō. The present subjunctive belongs in the present system (671).

343. Purpose Clauses.

1. Cīvēs sē armant ut pugnent, the citizens arm themselves that they may fight (or, in order that they may fight, in order to fight, for the purpose of fighting, to fight).
2. Cīvēs sē armant nē superentur, the citizens arm themselves that they may not be overcome (or, in order not to be overcome, so that they may not be overcome, lest they be overcome).

a. Observe that the dependent clauses express the purpose of the action of the principal clause, ut, that, introducing the affirmative clause, and nē, that not, the negative clause.

b. Observe the various ways of translating ut and nē and the subjunctive in these clauses. In English, purpose is most often expressed by the infinitive. In the best Latin prose, however, the purpose of an action is not expressed by the infinitive.

344. Rule for Purpose Clauses. The subjunctive is used with ut or nē in a dependent clause to express the purpose of the action stated in the independent clause.

EXERCISES

345. 1. Nūntium mittit ut cīvēs moneat. 2. Adulēscēns mittitur ut cīvēs moneantur. 3. Legiō mittitur nē oppidum ab hostibus capiātur. 4. Legiōnēs fortiter pugnant ut oppidum capiant. 5. Puer venit ut fābulam audiat. 6. Puerī veniunt ut verba tua audiant. 7. Eōs mittimus ut prōvinciam regant. 8. Eōs mittimus ut prōvincia ab eīs regātur. 9. In Galliam properātis ut bellum gerātis. 10. Centum milītēs praemittimus ut castra mūniant.

346. 1. He is sent to fight. 2. We send them to find the way. 3. You are sent that the enemy may not make an attack on the city. 4. The soldiers are led out of the camp that a line of battle may be drawn up. 5. I am coming to see you and your mother. 6. He fights to defend himself.

LESSON LI

THE IMPERFECT SUBJUNCTIVE · SEQUENCE OF TENSES

347. The Imperfect Subjunctive. The imperfect subjunctive may be formed by adding the personal endings to the present infinitive active; but the final -e of the infinitive is lengthened in certain forms.

a. Learn the imperfect subjunctive of the model verbs and of sum (658-663). The imperfect subjunctive belongs in the present system (671).

348. Sequence of Tenses. Examine the following English sentences :

1. He comes (is coming) that he may fight.
2. He will come that he may fight.
3. He came that he might fight.

a. Observe that in sentences 1 and 2 the verbs in the independent clauses are present and future, and that in sentence 3 the verb in the independent clause is past. Observe the change from may (present) to might (past) when a past tense takes the place of a present or a future in the verb of the independent clause. This following of one tense by another of the same kind is called Sequence of Tenses.

349. Primary and Secondary Tenses. Those tenses of the indicative which refer to present or to future time (present, future, and future perfect) are called Primary Tenses. Those tenses of the indicative which refer to past time (imperfect, perfect, and pluperfect) are called Secondary Tenses.

350. Rule for Primary Sequence. When the verb of the independent clause of a sentence is in a primary tense, a verb in the dependent clause is in the present tense if its action is incomplete, but in the perfect tense if its action is completed.

A GLIMPSE INTO A ROMAN THEATER

351. Rule for Secondary Sequence. When the verb of the independent clause of a sentence is in a secondary tense, a verb in the dependent clause is in the imperfect tense if its action is incomplete, but in the pluperfect if its action is completed.

a. Observe that all the verbs in the independent clauses in 345 are in the present tense, and that all the verbs in the dependent clauses are in the present subjunctive. If the verbs in the independent clauses should be changed to the future or the future perfect tense, what would be the tense of the subjunctive in the dependent clauses?

352. Rule for the Tense of the Subjunctive in Purpose Clauses. Since a purpose clause expresses an incomplete action, its verb will be in the present subjunctive if the verb in the independent clause is in a primary tense, and in the imperfect subjunctive if the verb of the independent clause is in a secondary tense.

EXERCISES

353. 1. Veniunt ut pācem petant. 2. Veniēbant ut pācem peterent. 3. Venient ut pācem petant. 4. Vēnerant ut pācem peterent. 5. Fortiter pugnābant nē ā Gallīs vincerentur. 6. Trāns flūmen properāverant ut oppidum oppugnārent. 7. Legiōnēs mittentur ut hostēs commeātibus interclūdantur. 8. Ut portum dēfenderent nostri praemissi sunt. 9. Cōsul audācissimē dīcet ut populum Rōmānum incitet.

354. 1. They labor that they may be praised. 2. They were laboring that they might be praised. 3. They will labor that they may be praised. 4. They had labored that they might be praised. 5. They threw weapons from the higher places in order to hinder the Romans. 6. He had called together the chiefs to hear the new plan. 7. They will desist from battle that they may not be killed.

LESSON LII

SUBSTANTIVE CLAUSES OF PURPOSE · RESULT CLAUSES

355. Substantive Clauses of Purpose. A substantive clause is a clause used like a noun (xx, d); it may be the subject or the object of a verb. Purpose clauses with ut and nē are often used in Latin as the objects of certain verbs: as, a. Observe that the clause ut obsidēs dent is the object of petit. This is, therefore, a noun clause. The purpose clauses in the preceding lessons were adverbial in nature (xx, c).

Petit ut obsidēs dent, he asks them to give hostages (that they give hostages).

356. Rule for Substantive Clauses of Purpose. Verbs meaning ask, command, persuade, and urge may have for their object a clause of purpose with its verb in the subjunctive.

a. In English an infinitive is generally used in the object clause.

357. Result Clauses.

1. Iter tam longum est ut puer sit dēfessus, the journey is so long that the boy is tired out.

2. Puer tam malus fuit ut ā patre nōn laudārētur, the boy was so bad that he was not praised by his father.

a. Observe that the dependent clauses beginning with ut express the result of the statements in the independent clauses, and that the subjunctive is translated by an English indicative.

b. Observe that the sequence is the same as in purpose clauses, but that the negative clause contains ut nōn (not nē).

358. Rule for Result Clauses. The subjunctive is used with ut or ut nōn in a dependent clause to express the result of the action stated in the independent clause. The sequence of tenses is generally the same as in purpose clauses.

LESSON LIV

THE PERFECT AND THE PLUPERFECT SUBJUNCTIVE INDIRECT QUESTIONS

371. The Perfect and the Pluperfect Subjunctive. The perfect and the pluperfect subjunctive active are formed on the perfect stem (671):

amāv	-erim, -erīs, -erit,	-erīmus, -erītis, -erint
amāv	-issem, -issēs, -isset,	-issēmus, -issētis, -issent

The perfect and the pluperfect subjunctive passive belong to the participial system (671).

a. Learn these tenses of the model verbs and of sum (658–663). Inflect the entire subjunctive of agō, pōnō, dō, and videō.

372. Indirect Questions. An indirect question is a subordinate clause which contains the substance of a direct question: as,

1. Ubi sunt? where are they?
2. Audit ubi sint, he hears where they are.

a. Observe that the dependent clause in 2 begins with an interrogative word (ubi) and contains the substance of the direct question in 1. Observe that the subjunctive mood is used, and that the clause is substantive in nature. Every subordinate clause introduced by an interrogative word is an indirect question.

b. An indirect question, with its verb in the subjunctive, may be used as the subject or the object of another verb. Indirect questions usually follow the general rule for the sequence of tenses: as,

1. Audit, he hears 2. Audiet, he will hear 3. Audiverit, he will have heard	}	$\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{ubi sint, where they are} \\ \text{ubi fuerint, where they were or} \\ \text{where they have been} \end{array} \right.$

1. Audiēbat, he was hearing	} { ubi essent, where they were
2. Audivit, he heard
3. Audiverat, he had heard

373. Rule for Indirect Questions. The verb of an indirect question is in the subjunctive. If the verb of the independent clause is in a primary tense, the verb of the indirect question is put in the present subjunctive for an incomplete action, but in the perfect for a completed action. If the verb of the independent clause is in a secondary tense, the verb of the indirect question is put in the imperfect subjunctive for an incomplete action, but in the pluperfect for a completed action.

LESSON LV

NUMERAL ADJECTIVES · THE OBJECTIVE GENITIVE

377. Numeral Adjectives. For the definition of numeral adjectives see III, c. A list of Latin cardinal and ordinal numerals is given in 651.

378. The Declension of Numeral Adjectives. The cardinals ūnus, one, duo, two, trēs, three, are declined; so, too, are the words for the hundreds, as, ducentī, two hundred, trecentī, three hundred, and (in the plural) mille, thousand. The other cardinals are not declined. The ordinals are declined as adjectives of the first and second declensions.

a. Learn the declension of ūnus, duo, trēs, and mille (646).

379. The Use of Mille. The singular of mille is indeclinable, and is used either as an adjective or as a neuter noun: mille (adj.) hominēs, a thousand men, or mille (noun) hominum. The plural is used only as a noun. When used as a noun it takes the partitive genitive: mille hominum, a thousand (of) men; quattuor milia hominum, four thousand(s of) men.

380. The Objective Genitive.

Spēs praedae hominēs incitat, hope of booty impels the men.

a. Observe that the genitive praedae expresses the thing hoped for the object of the hope. This usage of the genitive case is called the Objective Genitive. The difference between the possessive and the objective genitive is illustrated by timor canis, fear of the dog, which may mean the dog's fear (possessive) or fear felt for the dog (objective).

381. Rule for the Objective Genitive. Some nouns of action and feeling may have with them a genitive to express the object of the action or feeling implied in the nouns.

LESSON LVII

THE INFINITIVE AS SUBJECT AND AS COMPLEMENT

392. The Infinitive. The infinitives of amō are as follows

ACTIVE	PASSIVE
Pres. amāre, to love	amārī, to be loved
Perf. amāvisse, to have loved	amātus esse, to have been loved
Fut. amātūrus esse, to be about to love, to be going to love	(amātum irī, to be about to be loved)

a. Observe that the present infinitive passive is formed from the active by changing final -e to -ī. But in the third conjugation final -ere is changed to -ī.

b. The perfect infinitive active is formed by adding -isse to the perfect stem.

c. The perfect infinitive passive is formed by using the perfect participle with esse, the present infinitive of sum.

d. The future infinitive active is formed by using the future active participle, amātūrus, with esse. The future active participle is made by changing final -tus or -sus of the perfect passive participle to -tūrus or -sūrus. Form the future active participles of pōnō, instruere, videō, mittō, and gerō.

e. Learn the infinitives and meanings of the model verbs and of sum (658–663). The future infinitive passive may be omitted. It is rare.

393. The Infinitive as Subject. Since the infinitive is a noun, it may be used as the subject or the object of a verb. Since it is a verbal noun, it may have a subject or an object of its own and be modified by adverbs, adverb phrases, or adverb clauses.

1. Laudārī est grātum, to be praised is pleasing.
2. Iter per finēs hostium facere erit difficile, to march through the territory of the enemy will be difficult.

a. Observe that laudārī is the subject of est, and iter per finēs hostium facere of erit, while iter is the object of facere. Of what gender are grātum and difficile? What, then, is the gender of the infinitive?

394. The Complementary Infinitive.

1. Vincere potest, he is able to conquer.
2. Bonī esse dēbēmus, we ought to be good.

a. Observe that vincere and esse complete the meaning of potest and dēbēmus. An infinitive so used is called a Complementary Infinitive, and it is common in Latin, as in English, with verbs meaning be able, decide, ought, wish, begin, etc. You have already met this usage of the infinitive in several of the selections for reading.

b. The predicate adjective used with a complementary infinitive agrees in gender, number, and case with the subject of the main verb.

LESSON LVIII

THE INFINITIVE AS OBJECT · THE ACCUSATIVE AS SUBJECT OF THE INFINITIVE · INDIRECT STATEMENTS

398. The Infinitive as Object.

Mē venīre iussit, he ordered me to come.

a. Observe that in the English sentence the object of ordered is me to come; and that me is in the objective case and subject of the infinitive to come. The Latin sentence is like the English; mē is in the accusative case. Verbs meaning order and wish are the commonest verbs having an infinitive as their object; but imperō, order takes a substantive clause of purpose (356). The objective infinitive is also used in indirect statements (400-402).

399. Rule for the Accusative as Subject of the Infinitive. The subject of the infinitive is in the accusative.

400. Indirect Statements. A direct statement gives the exact words used by a speaker or writer: as, He says (or said) "Soldiers are coming." In an indirect statement the words of a speaker or writer are made to depend on a verb of saying, thinking, etc., and in English may or may not be the same as they were in the original statement or thought: as, He says that soldiers are coming, he said that soldiers were coming. Observe the same sentences in Latin:

1. Militēs veniunt, soldiers are coming.
2. Dicit militēs venīre, he says that soldiers are coming.
3. Dixit militēs venīre, he said that soldiers were coming.

a. Observe that in turning a direct statement into an indirect statement in Latin the nominative is changed to the accusative (399) and the indicative to the infinitive.

401. Rule for Indirect Statements. Indirect statements, with verb in the infinitive and subject in the accusative, are found in dependence on verbs of saying, thinking, knowing, perceiving, and the like.

402. The Use of the Tenses of the Infinitive in Indirect Statements. The present infinitive is used when the action of the indirect statement is going on at the same time as the action indicated by the verb of saying, thinking, etc.: as,

1. Dīcit militēs venīre, he says that soldiers are coming.
2. Dixit militēs venīre, he said that soldiers were coming.
3. Dīcet militēs venīre, he will say that soldiers are coming.

The perfect infinitive is used when the action of the indirect statement occurred before that of the verb of saying, thinking, etc.: as,

1. Dīcit militēs vēnisse, he says that soldiers came (or have come).
2. Dixit militēs vēnisse, he said that soldiers came (or had come).
3. Dīcet militēs vēnisse, he will say that soldiers came (or have come).

The future infinitive is used when the action of the indirect statement occurs after that of the verb of saying, thinking, etc.: as,

1. Dīcit militēs ventūrōs esse, he says that soldiers will come.
2. Dixit militēs ventūrōs esse, he said that soldiers would come.
3. Dīcet militēs ventūrōs esse, he will say that soldiers will come.

THE DEMONSTRATIVES IDEM, IPSE, ISTE · THE IRREGULAR VERB POSSUM

409. The Demonstratives Īdem, Ipse, and Iste. Review the declension of is, hic, and ille (654), and learn the declension of idem, same, ipse, -self, and iste, this of yours, that of yours (654).

a. Observe that idem is declined like is with -dem added, except that in the accusative singular and the genitive plural m is changed to n, and in the nominative and accusative singular is is changed to ī, id to i.

b. Decline together idem diēs, rēs ipsa, and istud cōsiliū.

410. The Distinction between Īdem, Ipse, and Iste.

a. Īdem and iste may be used both as demonstrative adjectives and as demonstrative pronouns.

b. Iste is used of that which has some relation to the second person, and is translated this of yours, that of yours, your: as, istam dīligentiam laudō, I praise that diligence of yours (your diligence).

c. Ipse means -self (himself, herself, itself, themselves). It is an intensive word, used to emphasize a noun or pronoun, expressed or understood, with which it agrees as an adjective: as, amicus ipse ad mē vēnit, my friend himself came to me. It must be distinguished from sē, -self, which is reflexive, not emphatic (266). Sometimes ipse may be translated even or very: as, in flūmine ipsō pugnant, they are fighting in the very river.

411. The Irregular Verb Possum. The irregular verb possum, I can, is a compound of potis, able, and sum, I am; pot-sum changed to possum. Wherever, in the inflection of this verb, t comes before s, it is changed to s, and wherever it comes before f, f is dropped. Learn the principal parts and the complete inflection (664).

THE INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

420. The Indefinite Pronouns. The indefinite pronouns (II, g) are compounds of quis and of quī. The following indefinite pronouns will be used in this book :

aliquis, aliqua, aliquid, aliquod, some, some one, any, any one quīdam, quaedam, quiddam, quoddam, a certain one, a certain quisquam, —, quidquam (no plural), any one (at all) quisque, quaeque, quidque, quodque, each, each one, every, every one

a. Learn the meanings and the declension of these pronouns (657).

b. The meanings of the neuters (something, anything, etc.) are easily inferred.

c. Observe how aliqua, which is both the feminine nominative singular and the neuter nominative and accusative plural of aliquis, differs from the corresponding forms of quis.

d. Observe that quīdam (quī + dam) is declined like quī, except that in the accusative singular and genitive plural m is changed to n; also that the neuter has quiddam and quoddam in the nominative and accusative singular.

e. In the neuter of all indefinites the quid forms are used as pronouns, and the quod forms as adjectives.

LESSON LXII

THE DATIVE WITH COMPOUNDS · THE DATIVES OF PURPOSE AND REFERENCE

424. The Dative with Compounds.

1. Quis equitibus praefuit? who commanded the horsemen?
2. Huic legiōnī lēgātum praefēcit, he put a lieutenant in charge of this legion.

a. Observe that praefuit, which is a compound of sum, is intransitive. It does not admit a direct object, but does admit the indirect object equitibus. There are a number of Latin verbs which in their simple form take neither a direct nor an indirect object; when these verbs are compounded with a preposition, they have a meaning which may take an indirect object. Some compound verbs take both a direct and an indirect object: as, praefēcit in sentence 2.

425. Rule for the Dative with Compounds. Some verbs compounded with ad, ante, con, dē, in, inter, ob, post, prae, prō, sub, and super, take a dative of the indirect object. Transitive compounds may take both an accusative and a dative.

426. The Datives of Purpose and Reference.

1. Militēs ibi erant praesidiō, soldiers were there as (for) a defense.
2. Militēs auxiliō eīs mittuntur, soldiers are sent as (for) a help to them.

a. Observe that the datives praesidiō and auxiliō are used to express the purpose for which something serves. This usage is called the Dative of Purpose. Often the dative of purpose is accompanied by another dative, called the Dative of Reference, denoting the person or thing served: as, eīs in sentence 2. This combination is known as the Double Dative.

427. Rule for the Dative of Purpose. The dative is used to denote the purpose for which a thing serves.

428. Rule for the Dative of Reference. The dative is used to denote the person (or, rarely, the thing) affected by the action or situation expressed by the verb.

THE DATIVE WITH SPECIAL INTRANSITIVE VERBS · THE IRREGULAR VERBS VOLO, NOLO, MALO

432. The Dative with Special Intransitive Verbs.

1. Legiōnī imperat, he commands a legion.
2. Amīcō meō persuādet, he persuades my friend.

a. Observe that legiōnī and amīcō are in the dative case, while the English equivalents are in the objective case. It is obvious, therefore, that the Latin verbs imperō and persuādeō are intransitive, and that they admit an indirect object.

Verbs of Attitude or Relation

433. Rule for the Dative with Special Intransitive Verbs. Most verbs meaning believe, favor, help, please, trust, and their opposites, also command, obey, pardon, persuade, resist, serve, spare, and the like, take a dative of the indirect object.

LESSON LXV

PARTICIPLES

441. Participles. Learn the participles of the model verbs (658-662), and their meanings.

a. Observe that the present active and the future passive participles are formed from the present stem by the addition of -ns and -ndus, with certain changes in quantity; and the future active and the perfect passive from the participial stem by the addition of -ūrus and -us. But observe that in verbs of the fourth conjugation and of the third conjugation ending in -iō the present active participle has -iēns and the future passive participle has -iendus. Form the participles of gerō, videō, iaciō, vāstō, and mūniō.

442. The Declension of Participles. Participles in -ns are declined like amāns (645). The ablative singular ending is -e; but the ending is -ī when the word is used as an adjective. The other participles are declined like bonus (643). Decline the participles of gerō.

443. The Agreement of Participles. Since participles are verbal adjectives (xxxiv), they agree with nouns or pronouns in gender, number, and case.

444. The Tenses of Participles. The present active participle is used of an action going on at the same time as the action of the main verb: as, tē labōrantem videō, I see you working; tē labōrantem vidī, I saw you working.

The perfect passive participle is used of an action that is completed at the time of the action of the main verb: as, mīles vulnerātus domum vēnit, the soldier, having been wounded, came home.

The future active and passive participles are used of actions which are to occur after the time of the action of the main verb. In this book the future active participle is used only in the formation of the future active infinitive (392, d). The uses of the future passive participle will be explained later (471-473).

445. The Translation of Participles.

1. Tē in urbe manentem vīdī, I saw you when you were staying in the city.
2. Urbs diū oppugnāta nōn capta est, the city, though besieged for a long time, was not taken.
3. Caesar eā rē commōtus in Galliam properāvit, Cæsar, because he was alarmed by this circumstance, hastened into Gaul.
4. Dux victus sē recipiet, the general, if defeated, will retreat.
5. Dōna missa recēpit, he received the gifts which had been sent.
6. Caesar principem captum Rōmam misit, Cæsar captured a chieftain and sent him to Rome.

a. Observe that in the first five sentences the participle is translated by clauses of time, concession, cause, and condition, and by a relative clause. In 6 the participle is translated by a coördinate verb. Note the words which introduce the different clauses. When you meet a participle, consider which of these six ways best brings out the thought of the sentence and translate accordingly. Do not translate a participle literally.

LESSON LXVII

THE ABLATIVE ABSOLUTE

452. The Ablative Absolute.

1. Cōsul, castris mūnītis, Rōmam vēnit, with the camp fortified, the consul came to Rome.
2. Caesare dūcente, semper vincimus, with Cæsar leading, we always conquer.
3. Caesare duce, vincēmus, with Cæsar as leader, we shall conquer.

a. Observe that the ablatives in these sentences are so loosely connected with the rest of the sentence that they are grammatically independent. Because of its loose connection with the sentence this usage of the ablative is known as the Ablative Absolute (ab + solvō).

453. How to translate the Ablative Absolute. The ablative absolute is usually translated, not as above, but by a clause : thus,

1. When (because, although, if) the camp had been fortified, the consul came to Rome.
2. When (because, although, if) Cæsar is leading, we always conquer.
3. When (because, although, if) Cæsar is leader, we shall conquer.

The method of translation in any particular sentence must be determined by asking which kind of clause best expresses the thought of the sentence as a whole.

454. The Formation of the Ablative Absolute. The ablative absolute may be formed by a noun or pronoun with a participle (as in 452, 1 and 2); or by a noun or pronoun with another noun or an adjective (as in 452, 3). The present active and perfect passive participles are used in this construction. Since the verb sum has no present participle, a participle is not expressed when the ablative absolute is formed as it is in 452, 3 : Caesare duce, Cæsar (being) leader.

a. An ablative absolute containing a perfect passive participle expresses an action that occurred before the action expressed by the main verb of the sentence; one containing a present participle expresses an action occurring at the same time as that of the main verb.

b. The Latin perfect participle is not found in the active voice. Accordingly such a sentence as Cæsar, having defeated the Gauls, returned to Rome has to be recast into the form Cæsar, the Gauls having been defeated, returned to Rome, Caesar, Gallis victis, Rōmam rediit.

c. The noun of the ablative absolute is always a different person or thing from the subject or object of the sentence.

455. Rule for the Ablative Absolute. The ablative of a noun or pronoun, with a participle, a noun, or an adjective in agreement, is used to express time, cause, concession, condition, or other relations.

LESSON LXVIII

THE GERUND · THE IRREGULAR VERB EO

459. The Gerund. The gerund (XXXII, c) is a verbal noun used in the genitive, dative, accusative, and ablative singular. It is formed by adding -ndī, -ndō, -ndum, -ndō to the present stem, with certain changes in quantity and spelling. Learn the gerunds of the model verbs (658–662).

460. What the Gerund is. The gerund is like the English verbal noun in -ing, as, loving; but it lacks a nominative case. For the nominative the infinitive is used.

Nom.	amāre, to love, loving
Gen.	amandī, of loving
Dat.	amandō, for loving
Acc.	amandum, loving
Abl.	amandō, by loving

461. The Uses of the Gerund. The gerund is used in the various constructions of nouns. Since it is a verbal noun, it may have a direct or an indirect object: as, vincendō hostēs by overcoming the enemy; resistendō hostibus, by resisting the enemy. Also observe the following:

1. Ad pugnandum vēnērunt, they came for fighting, for the purpose of fighting, to fight.
2. Pugnandī causā vēnērunt, they came for the sake of fighting to fight.

a. Observe that the accusative of the gerund with ad, or the genitive of the gerund with causā, is used to express purpose. Causa when so used follows its genitive. This method of expressing purpose is used in brief statements.

462. The Irregular Verb Eō. Learn the principal parts and conjugation of the irregular verb eō (667).

a. Observe where ī (the root of eō) is changed to e in the present indicative and subjunctive, in the present participle, and in the gerund. In the perfect system -v- is regularly dropped. For the declension of the present participle see 645.

LESSON LXIX

THE GERUNDIVE · THE IRREGULAR VERB FERO

471. The Gerundive. The future passive participle (441, 444) is more commonly called the Gerundive. It is a verbal adjective, and must be distinguished from the gerund, which is a verbal noun. The gerund, being a noun, may be used alone or with an object; but the gerundive, being an adjective, must agree with a noun.

472. The Gerundive used in Place of the Gerund.

1. Pācem petendī causā vēnērunt, they came for the purpose of seeking peace.
- ✓ 2. Pācis petendae causā vēnērunt, they came for the purpose of seeking peace.

a. Observe that the Latin sentences have the same meaning, and that 1 contains a gerund, petendī, with an object, pācem; while 2 contains a gerundive, petendae, in agreement with pācis. Instead of a gerund with an object, the Romans much preferred the gerundive construction, except occasionally in the genitive and in the ablative without a preposition.

473. The Gerundive used in the Passive Periphrastic Conjugation. The gerundive is also used with forms of sum as a predicate adjective. This is known as the Passive Periphrastic Conjugation. For a synopsis see 670.

1. Miles laudandus est, the soldier is to be praised, must be praised, ought to be praised.
2. Cornēlia laudanda erat, Cornelia was to be praised, ought to have been praised, needed to be praised.

a. Observe that these sentences express necessity. Observe, too, the methods of translation.

474. The Irregular Verb Ferō. Learn the principal parts and the conjugation of the irregular verb ferō (666).

THE ABLATIVE OF SPECIFICATION · DEPONENT VERBS

480. The Ablative of Specification.

Gallōs virtūte superant, they surpass the Gauls in courage.

a. Observe that the ablative virtūte tells in what respect the Gauls are surpassed. This usage is known as the Ablative of Specification.

481. Rule for the Ablative of Specification. The ablative without a preposition is used to denote in what respect something is true.

482. Deponent Verbs. Deponent verbs are verbs which have passive forms with active meanings. They occur in each of the regular conjugations, and are distinguished by the ending of the present infinitive: first conjugation, -ārī; second, -ērī; third, -ī; fourth, -irī. Learn the principal parts, the meanings, and the conjugation of the deponent verbs in 669.

483. The Active Forms and the Participles of Deponent Verbs. A deponent verb has the following active forms:

Fut. Infin. hortātūrus esse	Gerund	hortandī, etc.
------------------------------------	---------------	----------------

It has the participles of both voices:

Pres.	hortāns, urging	Perfect	hortātus, having urged
Fut.	hortātūrus, about to	Gerundive	hortandus, to be urged
	urge, going to urge

a. Observe that the perfect participle of deponent verbs is active in meaning; the gerundive is passive. As the perfect participle is active in meaning, an ablative absolute (454, b) is seldom necessary with this participle; instead, the construction is the same as in English: as,

Hortātus militēs signum dedit, having encouraged the soldiers he gave the signal, or, when he had encouraged, etc.

LESSON LXXII

TEMPORAL CLAUSES WITH CUM · THE IRREGULAR VERB FIO

487. Temporal Clauses with Cum. The Latin conjunction cum, -when, while, introduces temporal clauses (xx, e).

1. Cum Caesar in Italiā erat, bellum in Galliā ortum est, when (while) Cæsar was in Italy, a war began in Gaul.
2. Caesar, cum id nūntiātum esset, in Galliam contendit, Cæsar, when this had been reported, hastened into Gaul.
3. Cum nūntius pervēnerit, Caesar prōgrediētur, when the messenger arrives, Cæsar will advance.

a. Observe that the temporal clause in sentence 1 fixes the time at which the war began, and that its verb is in the indicative. Observe that the clause in sentence 2 describes the circumstances under which Cæsar was impelled to hasten into Gaul, and that its verb is in the subjunctive. Observe that the temporal clause in sentence 3 refers to future time, and that its verb is in the indicative.

488. Rule for Temporal Clauses with Cum. Temporal clauses referring to past time, when introduced by cum, have their verb in the indicative if they fix the time of an action, but in the subjunctive if they describe the circumstances of an action. The indicative is used in temporal clauses introduced by cum referring to present or to future time.

489. The Irregular Verb Fio. The verb faciō, which you have frequently used in the active voice, forms its present system in the passive from the irregular verb fiō. Learn the principal parts of fiō and its conjugation (668). Review the complete inflection of faciō. The passive voice of the compounds of faciō is inflected regularly.

SUBSTANTIVE CLAUSES OF FACT INTRODUCED BY QUOD THE INDICATIVE IN ADVERBIAL CLAUSES

495. Substantive Clauses of Fact with Quod.

Quod eum laudās, mihi grātum est, the fact that you praise him is pleasing to me.

a. Observe that the clause quod eum laudās is the subject of est. Such clauses, which should be translated by that or the fact that, are called Quod Clauses of Fact, and have their verb in the indicative. They are found as the subject of a verb or in apposition with some word.

496. Rule for Substantive Clauses of Fact. The indicative is used with quod in a substantive clause to state something which is regarded as a fact.

497. Adverbial Clauses with the Verb in the Indicative.

1. Ībunt quā iter facillimum est, they will go where the way is easiest.

The Aduatuci prepare to make a desperate resistance to Cæsar

524. Aduatuci¹ cum omnibus cōpiis auxiliō² Nervii veniebant. STORIES OF HERCULES

The infant Hercules

529. Herculēs, Alcmēnae filius, ōlim in Graeciā habitābat.
 Hic dīcitur omnium hominum validissimus fuisse. Sed Iūnō, rēgīna deōrum, Alcmēnam nōn amāvit et Herculem, quī adhūc infāns erat, interficere voluit. Misit igitur duo serpentis sae-15 vissimōs, quī mediā nocte in cubiculum Alcmēnae vērunt, ubi Herculēs cum frātre dormiēbat. Nōn tamen in cūnis sed in scūtō magnō dormiēbant. Serpentēs iam appropinquāverant et scūtum movēbant. Itaque puerī ē somnō excitāti sunt.

Īphiclēs, frāter Herculis, magnā vōce auxilium petiit; at 20 Herculēs ipse parvis manibus serpentēs statimprehendit et colla eōrum magnā vī compressit. Hōc modō serpentēs ā puerō interfecti sunt. Alcmēna autem, māter puerōrum, clāmōre au-

530. Herculēs ā puerō (from boyhood) corpus diligenter exercēbat ; magnam partem diēi in palaestrā cōsūmēbat ; di- 5

Tum Herculēs, irā commōtus, citharam subitō rapuit, et omni-

Hercules consults the oracle

531. Herculēs post paucōs annōs cōstituit ad ōrāculum 15
Delphicum ire, hoc enim ōrāculum erat omnium celeberrimum.
Ibi templum erat Apollinis plūrimis dōnis ōrnātum. Hōc in templō sedēbat fēmina quaedam, Pŷthia, et cōnsilium dabat iis quī ad ōrāculum veniēbant. Haec autem fēmina ab ipsō Apol-line docēbātur et voluntātem dei hominibus ēnūtiābat. Her- 20 culēs igitur, quī Apollinem maximē colēbat, hūc vēnit. Pŷthia iussit eum ad urbem Tīrynthā ire et Eurystheī rēgis omnia imperāta facere. His auditis, Herculēs ad illam urbem contendit, et Eurystheō rēgi sē in servitūtem trādīdit. Duodecim annōs in servitūte Eurystheī tenēbātur, et duodecim labōrēs 25 quōs ille imperāverat cōnfēcit, hōc enim ūnō modō tantum sce-lus³ expiārī potuit. Dē his labōribus plūrima ā poētis scripta sunt. Multa tamen quae poētae narrant vix crēdibilia sunt.

The golden apples of the Hesperides

532. Eurystheus labōrem ūndecimum Herculi imposuit graviōrem quam eōs quōs antea imperāverat. Imperāvit enim ei ut aurea pōma ex hortō Hesperidum ferret. Hesperidēs autem nymphae erant quaedam pulcherrimae, quae in terrā longinquā 5 habitābant et quibus aurea quaedam pōma ā Iūnōne commissae erant. Multi hominēs, aurī cupiditāte inductī, haec pōma auferre iam antea cōnātī erant. Rēs tamen difficillima erat, nam hortus in quō pōma erant mūrō ingenti undique circumdatus est; praeterea dracō quīdam, quī centum capita habuit, portam horti 10 diligenter custodiēbat. Opus igitur quod Eurystheus Herculi imperāverat erat difficillimum, nōn solum ob causās quās memorāvimus, sed etiam quod Herculēs omninō ignōrābat quō in locō hortus situs esset.

Atlas, who upheld the heavens

533. Herculēs quiētem vehementer cupiēbat, sed cōstituit 15 Eurystheō p̄rere; et, cum iussa eius accēpisset, proficisci mātūravit. Ā multis mercātōribus quaesivit quō in locō Hesperidēs habitārent; nihil tamen certum reperire potuit. Frūstrā per multās terrās iter fēcit et multa pericula subiit. Tandem, cum in hīs itineribus tōtum annum cōsūmpsisset, ad extrēmā 20 partem orbis, quae proxima erat Ōceanō, pervēnit. Hīc stābat vir quīdam, nōmine Atlās, quī caelum umeris sustinēbat, nē in terram dēcideret. Herculēs, tantum labōrem magnopere mirātus, paulō post in conloquium cum Atlante vēnit, et, cum causam itineris docuisset, auxilium ab eō petiit.

Hercules takes the place of Atlas

25 534. Atlās autem potuit Herculem maximē iuvāre, ille enim erat pater Hesperidum et bene scīvit quō in locō esset hortus.
 Cum igitur audivisset quam ob causam Herculēs vēnisset, dixit

"Ipse ad hortum ibō, et filiābus¹ meis persuādēbō ut pōma suā sponte² trādant." Herculēs, cum haec audivisset, magnopere gāvisus est,³ nōluit enim vim adhibēre; cōstituit igitur oblātum⁴ auxilium accipere. Atlās tamen postulāvit ut, dum ipse abesset (while he was himself away), Herculēs caelum umeris sustinē- 5 ret. Hoc negōtium Herculēs libenter suscēpit et, quamquam rēs difficillima erat, tōtum pondus caeli continuōs complūris diēs sōlus sustinuit.

The return of Atlas

535. Atlās intereā abierat⁵ et ad hortum Hesperidum, qui pauca milia passuum aberat, sē quam celerrimē⁶ contulerat. 10 Eō cum vēnisset, causam veniendī exposuit et filiās vehementer hortātus est ut pōma trāderent. Illae diū haerēbant, nōlēbant enim hoc facere, quod ab ipsā Iūnōne, ut ante dictum est, hoc mūnus accēperant. Atlās tamen post multa verba eis persuāsit ut sibi⁷ pārērent, et pōma ad Herculem rettulit. Herculēs 15 intereā, cum plūris diēs exspectāvisset, neque ūllam fāmam dē reditū Atlantis accēpisset, hāc morā graviter commōtus est. Tandem quīntō diē Atlantem redeuntem⁸ vidit et mox magnō cum gaudiō pōma accēpit; tum, postquam grātiās prō tantō beneficiō ēgit, in Graeciam proficisci mātūrāvit. 20

accipiō	cōnfirmō	praemittō	resistō	revertor
dēbeō	dēfendō	conveniō	excēdō	prōcēdō

632. Suffixes.

a. The suffixes -tās, -tūs, and -ia, when added to the stems of nouns, make other nouns denoting condition or characteristic :

cīvi (stem of cīvis, citizen) + tās = cīvitās, citizenship (the condition or characteristic of a citizen); state, tribe.

vir (weakened stem of vir, man) + tūs = virtūs, manliness, valor (the characteristic of a man).

b. The suffixes -ia, -tia, -tās, and -tūdō, when added to the stems of adjectives, make abstract nouns denoting quality or condition :

alti (weakened stem of altus, high) + tūdō = altitūdō, height (the quality or condition of being high).

c. The suffixes -iō, -tiō, -tus, and -ium, when added to the stems of verbs, make verbal nouns denoting an act or the result of an act :

mūnī (stem of mūniō, fortify) + tiō = mūnitiō, a fortifying, a fortification (the act of fortifying, or the result of the act of fortifying).

633. Explain the formation of the following nouns :

victōria	nātiō	aedificium	celeritās	dēditiō
praemium	cōnsilium	adventus	difficultās	ēruptiō
studium	legiō	exercitus	mūnitiō	altitūdō
imperium	multitūdō	equitātus	praesidium	facultās
virtūs	cīvitās	cōnspectus	subsidiū	lēgātiō
conloquium	tempestās	memoria	occāsus	condiciō

ENGLISH DERIVATIVES

634. Suggestions for a Notebook. In making a collection of the English words that are derived from the Latin words of the vocabularies, the pupil should keep the results of his work in a notebook. Such a book should contain, in addition to the list of derivatives, the definition of each derivative, and a brief sentence illustrating its use. A suggested form of arrangement for the notebook follows:

DERIVATIVES OF Vocō, call

vocō, vocāre, vocāvī, vocātus	vocation, vocational, vocal, evoke, convoke, convocation, vocate, revoke, invoke, vociferous, invocation vocation: a calling , occupation vocational: pertaining to a vocation or calling vocal: pertaining to the voice evoke: call out convoke: call together convocation: a calling together, an assembly vocative: case of calling , case of address revoke: call back invoke: call upon, ask for vociferous: of large calling power, with a loud voice invocation: a calling upon, a prayer vocation: The choice of a vocation is not always easy vocational: Vocational guidance is often necessary vocal: He is receiving vocal instruction evoke: His remarks evoked applause convoke: He will convoke the council convocation: Convocation day is at hand vocative: The vocative is not common in Cæsar revoke: Their punishment will be revoked invoke: The ancients invoked many gods vociferous: The audience became vociferous invocation: The invocation was then made

635. The following verbs are especially worthy of study in the manner suggested above because of the large number of English words derived from them:

amō	dūcō	audiō	locō (conlocō)	nāvigō
videō	mittō	dicō	cēdō	pōnō habeō	capiō	vincō	parō	cognōscō
doceō	iaciō	faciō	pugnō	putō
moneō	sedeō (obsideō)	dō	teneō	moveō
terreō	timeō	agō	veniō	sūmō

The prefixes listed in 630, and also ante, before, circum, around, ob, toward, and super, above, usually are evident in the English derivatives of Latin words. But sometimes the prefix appears in a different spelling: thus, ab- appears as a-, abs-, as- (abstain) ad- appears as ac-, ag-, al-, ap-, ar-, as-, at- (apparatus) con- appears as com-, co-, col-, cōr- (composition) in- appears as im-, ir-, il- (impose) ob- appears as oc-, of-, obs-, o- (occur) sub- appears as suc-, suf-, sug-, sup-, sur- (suppose)

LATIN-ENGLISH VOCABULARY

In this vocabulary words inclosed in brackets (except in the case of compounds with one or both parts changed in form) are sometimes primitives, sometimes cognates.

Translations inclosed within parentheses are not intended to be used as such. They are inserted to show literal meanings.

Abbreviations are generally self-explanatory. Cf. (confer) = compare; irr. = irregular.

Words printed in SMALL CAPITALS are at once derivatives and definitions: as, ABDUCT, under abdūcō. Many other more or less remotely derived words, not definitions, are added in italic in parentheses: as, (Accident), under accidō.

It will be seen that comparisons of words in reference to meaning are much more frequent than is usual in special vocabularies. This has been done from the conviction that the pupils should make such comparisons frequently from the outset.
